ALLIED BOMBERS BATTER JAPANESE CRUISER AS AUSTRALIAN INVASION IS HELD IMMINENT

Raid Scare Is Result Of Signals

Surprise Test Meant for State Guard Has An
Aspects of Air Raid
Warning
Test Is Praised
Preston Says Guard Call
Is 98 Per Cent Effective

Use of the air raid air horns Wednesday afternoon in conjunction with a surprise test mobilization of the State Guard units have caused considerable confusion and not only mobilized the State Guard but also mobilized a considerable part of the air raid machinery. Many air raid wardens bearing the air horns sound in conjunction with the fire alarm system rushed to their posts and many people sought shelter off the streets in the belief that an air raid was imminent. The alarm came at about 5:13 o'clock while it was still light and many people knowing that the signal could not be sounded for a "blackout" in daylight hours were under the impression that a raid was imminent.

Had the public listened to the alarm sounded they would have found that the blasts were "3-6" repeated several times, this being the signal which had been arranged to mobilize the members of the 56th Regiment, State Guard, in this locality.

In the past the fire alarm system has been used for calling the Guard but the test yesterday was the first which has been made since the air raid horns were placed in use and their use confused many people who believed the air horns were to be used only for air raid purposes.

The matter of use of the air horns will be taken up and they probably will not be used in future for calling together the State Guard but reserved for use in express the opinion that the air raid devices should be distinctive in tone and used only for that purpose if the best results are to be attained in case of need.

Major Carlton Preston in command of the First Battalion, Third Brigade, of the 56th Regiment, State Guard, said today that the test had been 98 per cent effective and that men began to arrive at the armory within five minutes after the surprise alarm for mobilization had been sounded. Immediately on arrival of men and officers at the armory a guard was thrown about the building and within a few minutes there was a complete military organization functioning.

Mobilization Order

The mobilization order came through headquarters of the Third Brigade of which General Kearney of Albany is commander. The mobilization order resulted in the assembly of the Headquarters Detachment, Company A and Company B of the local guard and the assembly of the entire First Battalion which in addition to the local units also includes companies at Catskill. The Second and Third Battalions includes companies from Newburgh, Middletown and communities south of Poughkeepsie on the east side of the river. Colonel John J. Sheehan of Newburgh is commander of the First Battalion.

Major Preston received his first notice of the mobilization at 5:10 and at 5:13 the mobilization alarm was sounded over the fire alarm system when the signal 3-6 was sounded three or four times. After a pause of about five minutes the same signal was again repeated and again in fifteen minutes the signal was sounded. An announcement was also made over the local radio station. The last signal of assembly was sounded at about 5:30 o'clock.

The mobilization of the Third Brigade was a surprise test for both officers and men and was pronounced a decided success.

The confusion in Kingston over the alarm on the air raid horns came because of the close resemblance of the signal 3-6 and the 6-6 air raid signal. Use of the air raid whistles came as a surprise to guardsmen as well as to the public. It is expected that the air horns in the future will be restricted to air raid use and some definite announcement will be made shortly to the public to eliminate the confusion which existed Wednesday afternoon.

On arrival at the armory the

Hitler Recalls His Ousted Generals and Maps Spring Plans

Fuehrer Abandons His 'Lone Wolf' Leadership; Germans Say Reds Attack Heavily in Kerch and Donets Sectors

(By The Associated Press)
Climaxing three months of bloody retreat, Adolf Hitler has abandoned his lone-wolf role in guiding the destiny of German arms, it was reported today, and has called back his generals to help plan the Nazi spring offensive.

The Berlin correspondent of the Basel (Switzerland) National Zeitung said Hitler had summoned nearly all the German officers, including Field Marshal Walther von Brauchitsch, who were ousted or resigned after the drive against Moscow failed last December.

Hitler at that time announced that his "intuition" had led him to take over supreme command of the German armies.

The national Zeitung correspondent said the Nazi spring offensive might be expected soon, with the Fuehrer and his generals now mapping strategy at a series of staff conferences.

The question of throwing Russia's winter steamroller into reverse still remained to be solved, however, and today's German high command communique acknowledged that the Red armies were attacking relentlessly and that "heavy defensive fighting is in progress."

A bulletin from Hitler's field headquarters noted continuing Russian pressure on the Kerch peninsula, in the Crimea, as well as fierce Soviet thrusts in the Donets river sector of the Ukraine, where the Russians are battering at the gates of Kharkov.

In the north, Soviet dispatches reported that Russian guerrilla forces had regained control of 6,000 square miles of territory behind the German siege lines around Leningrad and declared they were so strong that the Germans could not enter the region.

Although not specifically identified, the section may be a part of the Baltic state of Estonia, which the Germans overran in their drive against Leningrad.

Russian appeals for opening of a second front against Germany were renewed by the Moscow News, now published in Kuibyshev, with a declaration that anti-Hitler forces "can and must determine the future progress of the war."

From a secret continental base, the German-freedom radio said today that German troops and laborers were strengthening Netherlands defenses and "these preparations show Hitler actually expects a landing by British and American troops."

Neither London nor Washington, however, indicated that any major thrust toward Germany beyond bombing was in prospect immediately.

The Soviet information bureau said 3,000 Germans had been killed in a five-day fight on a central sector, perhaps referring to the previously announced encirclement of Gzhatsk, German-held town 100 miles west of Moscow.

Brazilian authorities rounded up a number of Japanese nationals in raids which police said uncovered evidence that the Sao Paulo colony was "in a state of readiness" to act upon radio orders from Tokyo.

Another Blackout Of Incident Type Is Slated for City

Sham Emergency Will Test Efficiency of One Area Inside City Limits in Near Future

What is called an "incident blackout" will be staged in Kingston Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock by order of General Darrah, assistant director of the state civil defense.

The "incident blackout," according to local defense officials is in reality a full dress rehearsal to show the efficiency of the various units that go to make up the home defense activities in case of an actual air raid over Kingston.

Four or five wards will be selected by those in charge of the "incident blackout." They will know nothing about being selected nor will any warning of any kind be given.

Certain buildings in the wards will be designated as either having been bombed or set on fire. The air raid wardens and all their assistants are expected to immediately go into action calling the central control station in the city hall, calling out the fire department, and the medical units.

Those persons reported "injured" will be taken care of by the members of the medical units and hurried to the emergency hospital that will be immediately set up in the municipal auditorium.

For some time the various units that go to make up the home defense campaign in case of air raids or any other emergency have been training and studying as to what duties they are actually to perform in case of the emergency.

This full dress rehearsal which will be unrehearsed and unannounced is intended to show how efficient the various units would be in a case of actual emergency.

U.S. Orders Gasoline By Coupons

East and Northwest Are to Be Affected by Federal Order Within Six Weeks
Supply Is Cut
Same Area Today Is Under 20 Per Cent Curtailment

Washington, March 19 (AP)—Petroleum Coordinator Ickes announced today a rigid gasoline coupon rationing system would be instituted in the east and Pacific northwest as soon as the cards can be printed—which he estimated would be within six weeks.

The card rationing would supplement the curtailment program instituted over the same area today through reduction by 20 per cent in the supplies of gasoline delivered to filling stations.

Ickes said he could not say now whether the more rigid system would be severer than the present one-fifth cut in consumption, but expressed the hope that the card system might be instituted quickly because of the increasing urgency of the supply situation in the two coastal areas caused by the sinking and war diversion of tanker ships.

"We will go on a card rationing system as soon as Mr. Henderson, the price administrator, can get around to it," the petroleum coordinator said. "He will do the rationing."

Operations of approximately 100,000 filling stations in the area were limited to a 12-hour-day, six-day-week.

Supplementing this wartime action, the Office of Price Administration froze the retail gasoline prices in the area at the levels prevailing last Friday and made violations punishable by a maximum $5,000 fine or one year imprisonment.

The freezing order, which will be in force for at least 60 days, becomes legally effective on Monday, March 23. In issuing the order, Acting Price Administrator John E. Hamm disclosed last night that "serious consideration" was being given to the licensing of all filling stations in the curtailment area as a further measure to guarantee observance of the price regulations.

Like the reduced gasoline consumption, the freezing order applied to the District of Columbia and 19 states including Connecticut, New Jersey and New York.

As consumption was curtailed, the petroleum industry warned that only "the fullest cooperation of every consumer" in the program could prevent drastic rationing by coupon books.

The reduction effective today—through a one-fifth cut in supplies delivered to service stations—was ordered by the War Production Board on recommendation of Petroleum Coordinator Ickes who said the condition of petroleum stocks in the areas had become acute due to submarine sinkings and war demands on tanker ships which normally supply these coastal states.

Ickes issued a statement saying "automobile drivers can help their country," and advising: "Drive carefully. Don't use your car unnecessarily. Share rides with friends and neighbors. Conserve gasoline and oil. That means rubber, too."

"Remember—Oil is ammunition, use it wisely."

Dealers Begin Closings

New York, March 19 (AP)—In line with the war production board's new restrictions on gasoline sales, dealers in the New York area will start closing for the night, beginning tonight at 7 p. m. and will start Sunday closings on March 29.

Michael Goldstein, president of the Gasoline Council of Greater New York, said the 5,000 to 6,000 members of the organization would protest in Washington against any plan of staggering closing times for service stations. He said that uniform closing operations should be maintained in order to be fair to all dealers.

The W. P. B. order, besides effecting a 20 per cent reduction in the amount of gasoline to be delivered to dealers, limited the operation of filling stations along the Atlantic seaboard and in two western states, to a 12-hour-day, six-day-week, but left it to the individual operator to choose any

Stilwell Is Put Over Two Armies Of Chinese Troops

American's Appointment
Believed First Time
National Has Led Big Groups

Washington, March 19 (AP)—The war department announced today that Lieutenant General Joseph W. Stilwell of the United States Army had been put in command of the Fifth and Sixth Chinese armies operating with British forces defending Burma against the Japanese.

The action was taken by Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek of China, a brief communique said.

General Stilwell went to China a few weeks ago and served initially as Chiang's chief of staff.

The communique, No. 151, covering reports received until 10 a. m., today, eastern war time, said: "Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek has placed Lieutenant General Joseph W. Stilwell, United States Army, in command of the Fifth and Sixth Chinese Armies, operating in conjunction with the British forces in Burma."

"There is nothing to report from other areas."

Military officials expressed belief General Stilwell's appointment represented the first time that an American army officer had been given command of a major body of Chinese troops, although American adventurers have commanded Chinese.

Stilwell, a native of Palatka, Fla., and 59 years old today, was promoted to lieutenant general last month.

A 1904 graduate of the Military Academy, he holds the Distinguished Service Medal for service in France in the first World War during the St. Mihiel offensive.

He has had wide experience in China, beginning with a four-year period as a language student in 1919-23. He served with the 15th infantry at Tientsin in 1926-29 and again in China in 1932-39 as military attaché at Peking.

Aged Man Found Drowned in Creek

Joel Lennon, 74, Is Called Victim of Accident by Coroner McHugh

Joel Lennon, 74, who lived alone at Cherrytown, town of Rochester, and who had been reporting missing from his home on Tuesday by Constable Joe Newman of town of Rochester, was found drowned in a creek near his home Wednesday afternoon. A search had been instituted for the aged man by his son and neighbors.

Coroner Jesse McHugh of Wallkill was summoned to the scene where the aged man had apparently fallen from a small bridge across the stream as he endeavored to get a pail of water. He said Mr. Lennon had been dead for perhaps a day or two when the body was discovered partially submerged in the water. Coroner McHugh rendered a verdict of accidental drowning.

Mr. Lennon, who lived alone, apparently had gone for a pail of water when he was seized with an attack. He appeared to have fallen into the stream from the bridge as he endeavored to cross the bridge and was drowned. The

Mrs. Patterson Files Suit Naming Winchell

Washington, March 19 (AP)—Mrs. Eleanor Patterson, owner and publisher of the Washington Times-Herald, has filed a complaint in District Court for $200,000 damages against Walter Winchell, columnist and radio commentator; the Andrew Jergens Company, sponsor of Winchell's radio program, and the National Broadcasting Company.

The complaint "to recover damages for defamation" asked $100,000 as compensation and an additional $100,000 to be awarded as a punishment against Winchell individually.

Mrs. Patterson alleged that Winchell referred to an editorial which was published in her paper in "false, scandalous, malicious and defamatory words." The editorial, Mrs. Patterson said in her complaint, was inserted in the Congressional Record by the late Farmer-Labor senator from Minnesota, Ernest Lundeen, and dealt with foreign policies of the United States.

Overtime Tax Plan Presented to Group

Washington, March 19 (AP)—A tax program based on adding 10 hours to the present 40-hour work week with the government taking the cash over-time payments as income taxes was presented to the house ways and means committee today by Joseph E. Goodbar, a New York lawyer.

The witness told the committee that under his plan persons unable or unwilling to perform extra work in most cases would pay an equivalent war tax in cash equal to 25 per cent of net income. Management would rearrange all non-war working schedules to permit overtime for all workers.

Walter Lord Dies In Hudson River As Boat Capsizes

Searching Parties Seeking Body Along East Bank
Across From Glasco
Near Small Cove

Walter Lord, stepson of Charles McCullough of East Kingston, former assistant night jailer at the Ulster county jail, and son of Mrs. McCullough, was drowned about three o'clock Wednesday afternoon when the boat in which he and John Watzka, 19, of East Kingston, were trying to bring out of a cove on the east side of the Hudson river capsized. Young Watzka managed to save himself by grabbing and hanging on to the iron work of the New York Central Railroad trestlework running over the mouth of the cove and underneath which the boys were trying to work their boat against a swift incoming tide. Just what happened to Walter is not certain, but he was last seen some 150 feet inside the cove and near the overturned boat.

A third member of the party, Robert Post of East Kingston, who had gotten out of the boat before the attempt was made to take it under the trestle, pulled Watzka up to safety.

The Rhinebeck Station of the State Police and the Dutchess county sheriff's office were notified of the drowning and attempts to recover the body by grappling were made Wednesday afternoon without success. The work was resumed this morning, with 10 men from East Kingston crossing the river to give any possible assistance.

Were Setting Traps

The story of the unfortunate trip, as learned by Mr. McCullough, states that Walter Lord, with his boat, equipped with an outboard motor and accompanied by Robert Post and John Watzka, had crossed the river Wednesday afternoon and entered what is known as Cattail Cove, on the east side of the Hudson and about opposite Glasco, passing under the N. Y. Central trestle in doing so.

United States Bombing Planes Are Patrolling Central American Area

Guatemala City, March 19 (AP)—United States bombing planes, ready for any eventuality, now are carrying out important patrols in defense of Central America and the Panama Canal from an air base "somewhere in Guatemala."

Bearing heavy loads of explosives, the planes maintain a ceaseless vigil far out over the tossing waters of the Pacific and the sunny Caribbean.

"The base from which they are operating was established with the cooperation of the Guatemalan government which, like other central American republics, declared war upon the Axis powers after the Japanese sneak-attack upon Pearl Harbor."

Lieut. General Frank M. Andrews, heading the Caribbean defense command, has just completed an inspection of the base accompanied by high-ranking officers of the United States air force and American newspapermen—the first correspondents permitted to visit the airfield.

The group arrived in the field in the general's plane, with Andrews himself at the controls, to find the place a beehive of activity.

Guatemalan workmen—many of them Mayans—were busily engaged in improving facilities at the field and constructing quarters for ground troops who have been assigned to guard the base and equipment.

United States planes were coming and going constantly on their patrol missions. Morale obviously was high and the bomber crews—under command of Major Samuel Gurney, Jr., of Ridgewood, N. J.—were keyed for action.

Vichy Says Jap Ships Are on Way

Radio Report Claims
99 Vessels Steam
Toward Australian
Mainland
Leaders Are Active
MacArthur and Aides
Concentrate on Striking Force

By ROGER D. GREENE
(Associated Press War Editor)

Allied bombers striking to wreck Japan's sea-borne invasion forces were officially credited today with battering another Japanese heavy cruiser, while a quickening tempo of enemy aerial thrusts indicated that a direct assault on Australia or New Zealand may be imminent.

The cruiser was hit on the stern and left billowing smoke, it was announced.

Japanese warplanes again raided Port Darwin, on the Australian northwest coast, and struck anew at Port Moresby, New Guinea, dropping 40 bombs on harbor shipping in a 30-minute attack.

Dispatches to the Sydney Sun reported that a considerable force of Japanese troops was advancing overland toward Port Moresby, moving down the Markham Valley from Lae.

Unconfirmed reports previously broadcast by the Vichy radio said that a 99-ship Japanese fleet had been seen steaming southward from conquered Java and that an invasion squadron had been sighted 200 miles off the west coast of Australia. These was no confirmation elsewhere, however.

Port Moresby, only 300 miles from the Australian mainland, would be a likely jumping-off point for Japanese invasion forces.

Enemy planes also were spotted reconnoitering islands near Cape York, northeast Australia, and two attacks were directed against Tugali, on Florida Island, in the Solomon Archipelago which slants down toward New Caledonia and New Zealand.

Strategically located off the southeast coast of Australia, New Zealand itself was girding to combat any invasion attempt. Defense Minister F. Jones announced that strong reinforcements were being mobilized for the dominion, including United States and British planes and equipment.

Australia's Prime Minister John Curtin said Allied forces blasted the Japanese heavy cruiser in an attack at enemy-occupied Rabaul, New Britain, and bombed two other large ships.

This followed word from Washington yesterday that Australian-American forces had sunk or damaged 23 vessels at Salamaua and Lae, sister ports of New Guinea, and boosted to 63 the total of Japanese warships alone thus knocked out of combat, permanently or temporarily, in the western Pacific.

This harrowing action, however, was obviously but a heartening preliminary to large scale fighting to come.

General Douglas MacArthur made it plain that, as Supreme Commander in the Southwest Pacific, he intended to build a striking force as soon as possible to smash Japan and at the same time relieve his beleaguered troops in the Philippines.

Thousands of soldiers and tons of supplies moved from the United States by heavily-laden convoys and sun-bronzed veterans of the battle of Java were established in bases about the Commonwealth for this joint endeavor with Australia's armed forces.

Lieut. Gen. George H. Brett, Air Chief and Deputy Commander under General MacArthur, summed up with a declaration that "when we start rolling, we shall keep on rolling."

In the critical northern sector of the Far Pacific theatre, dispatches from Mandalay said the big battle of the Prome highway, key to central Burma oil fields, was apparently on the verge of breaking wide open as Japanese troops streamed up the Irrawaddy river valley to attack new British positions.

Unofficial reports said British troops had withdrawn from Tharrawaddy, 60 miles north of Japanese-occupied Rangoon and almost halfway to Prome.

Japanese forces were said to be moving up the Irrawaddy valley by boat, motor column and mule train.

Lions Hear Talk On Mine Sweepers

Lieut.-Commander Cockey
Tells of Various Types

Lieut. Commander R. K. Cockey was guest speaker at the Lions Club meeting held this week at Governor Clinton Hotel. He and his Ensign Knox who was a guest of the Club are to man one of the mine sweepers now being constructed at Kingston.

The Lieut. Commander told of the several types of mines they have to contend with. The one used in World War I were of the iron type which were set off by direct contact with the ship.

In World War No. 2, the magnetic mine is most commonly used by the enemy these mines can be placed by planes from the air and are equipped with a magnetic needle which is acted upon as a ship passes over or near the mine thus setting it off in hope it is close enough to damage the ship.

There has been a cable perfected which neutralizes the ship and the ones so equipped may pass over the mines without setting off this magnetic field and consequently the mine is not exploded.

In addition to this the mine sweepers are equipped with a long wire or cable which trails behind the boat and which sets the mines off after the sweepers have passed a safe distance away.

He also stressed the fact that in the Navy when they are on active patrol duty there is no rest periods, everyone has to be on the alert and that he felt that those at home should get into the pressure of this war perhaps not by joining the armed forces but to get the various civic organizations such as Lions Clubs etc., to try and cut red tape and delay which at the moment seem to be our greatest fault. And before the war can be won it will take a great deal of effort not only of the Army and Navy but also we as individuals who can best make the effort successful.

Fred Nehring was taken into the club as a new member filling the vacancy caused by Frank Brown, who has moved his family west to take up his duties there.

A letter was received by the Club from Mayor William Edmuth urging the Kingston Club to try and bring the 1943 Lions Convention to the Convention City of Kingston. This would mean approximately 600 persons in this city for a period of three days.

President M. Reina and Lion Charles Gradwell are working hard on this assisting Lion Harry Chandler who is chairman of this committee.

WOODSTOCK

Library Group Meets
Woodstock, March 18—The regular meeting of the board of trustees of the Woodstock Public Library was held at the library building on Thursday, March 12. A financial report for the library was read by W. S. Elwyn. It showed an increase in funds. There is need for repairs to the building's foundation. The library fair, it was feared, might not be of much help this year. Books which have been an important source of revenue in previous years, have been given in quantities to the victory book campaign. Clothes have been sent to Bundles for Britain, and various sources of domestic needs, and the attendance is liable to be curtailed by scarcity of rubber and gasoline. More money will be needed, therefore, from the members of the library association.

Those present at the meeting were: Alice Thompson, librarian; Miss Alice Thompson, Miss Webster, Mrs. Winifred Hasty, Mrs. Julia Leafcraft, Miss Elsa Kimball, Mrs. Joseph Freiberg, Mrs. Eric Linden, Mrs. Mowrer, Mrs. Dorothy Bernhard, William S. Elwyn, Bruno Zimm and George Neher.

Fourteen of the 24 cartons, containing 710 books assembled, sorted and packed at the Woodstock library, have been delivered to the Merchant Marine Library, 45 Broadway, New York, through the aid of Luther Russell. As no money has been provided for delivery, it is urgently requested that anyone who can take all or a part of those remaining (10 cartons) will do so. Arrangements may be made by calling Mrs. Alice Thompson at the library or by communicating with Miss Isabelle Daughy at the office of Civilian Defense.

Woodstock, March 17—Two films were shown at Town Hall on Monday evening. They were brought here by Fire Chief Murphy of Kingston and were designed to show what had been done in the investigation of incendiary bombs. Chief Murphy explained the chemical construction of the incendiary bomb.

The salvage bins of the civilian defense have been temporarily discontinued. The public is requested to send salvage to the old salvage bins and to keep it until other arrangements are made. It was thought that the old location was a fire hazard.

Allen Delano has been appointed as head of civilian police. As police captain Delano is away from Woodstock and employed elsewhere at present.

Arrangements are being made for a more adequate alarm for the next blackout.

Meetings will be held in this area soon to arrange for the accommodation of evacuees when and if they are sent here because

There have been several contributions received less than $1.00, which are not listed above, but are included in the totals

Normal School News

The New Paltz Normal School has initiated a forum service in order to take part in the national movement to strengthen the democratic way of living. Under the direction of Dr. Arnold R. Verdun, this service is designed to offer leadership for free and open discussion of vital contemporary problems throughout this section of New York state.

Five topics will be offered by as many round table groups of students as possible. Forum service hopes to present these round table discussions in a large number of adult groups as well as high school clubs and societies.

Last Monday night over Station WKNY this forum service held a round-table discussion concerning the topic, "How Do We Stand With Latin America?" Two boys from New Paltz Normal discussed this national topic. They were Dominick Gentile and Robert Irwin. They were introduced by Dr. Arnold R. Verdun, head of the history department at New Paltz Normal.

Spring Music Concert

In the auditorium Thursday evening the annual Spring Music Concert was held. This lyricum program is a traditional feature of musical achievement at New Paltz each spring, combining the talents offered by the several school music organizations. ## Four Are Indicted In Reich Slaying

Three Men and Women Face First Degree Murder Charge

New York, March 19 (AP)—The office of District Attorney Frank S. Hogan announced today that three men and a woman had been indicted on first degree murder charges in connection with the strangulation slaying of Mrs. Susan Flora Reich, wealthy Polish refugee.

The indictment, returned last night, named Madeline Webb, 28-year-old model and dancer from Stillwater, Okla., whose plans for a conquest of the theatrical world went awry; Eli Shonbrun, 33, her sweetheart; John D. Cullen, 45, and Murray Hirsch, 40, Shonbrun's uncle.

Until last night Hirsch had been held in $25,000 bail as a material witness. He appeared in the police line-up today and in answer to a question said he had made a statement to the district attorney. The other three previously had made similar answers.

Mrs. Reich, 52, wife of a New Jersey wax processor, was found dead in an East Side hotel suite March 5. A valuable diamond ring and a watch and chain were missing. The room had been engaged by Mr. and Mrs. Ted Leopold which police said was an alias for Miss Webb and Shonbrun.

Miss Webb, Shonbrun and Cullen were arrested a few days later and charged with suspicion of homicide.

Hirsch was arrested after police said he told them that Shonbrun had tried to sell him a ring—a ring which the district attorney said answered the description of the one stolen from Mrs. Reich.

Hirsch was arrested in 1922 for grand larceny, police records show, but was discharged. He was arrested on a similar charge in 1940 and was on parole when taken into custody in the Reich investigation.

Maines Is Discharged

As Complaint Is Dropped

Fireman Clarence V. Maines of the Cornell Fire Station was discharged in police court this morning when Mrs. Elizabeth Stokes, who had lodged a complaint of third degree assault against him, appeared before Judge Matthew V. Cahill and asked that the complaint be withdrawn.

Mrs. Stokes informed Judge Cahill that she and Maines had made a settlement between themselves, and Judge Cahill at the aged woman's request withdrew the complaint and discharged Maines who was represented by Attorney Chris J. Flanagan, while Judge William H. Grogan appeared for Mrs. Stokes.

Irving Shaid of New York city, charged with failing to observe a full stop sign, forfeited bail by not appearing in court today.

Maggie Ragland, a negress of Goldrick's Landing, charged with public intoxication, was fined $3.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, MARCH 19, 1942

CRIME HERE BELOW AVERAGE

In its effort to avoid an increase in crime in this country, such as was experienced in England after the outbreak of the war there, the Federal Bureau of Investigation recently has made a thorough survey of the situation for the past year in Kingston and 386 other cities larger than 25,000 population.
Kingston police handled 178 crimes during the year, amounting to 623 offenses per 100,000 population. For all 387 cities, the average crime rate was considerably higher—1,712 per 100,000. In cities of the Middle Atlantic States the average rate was 912 and in New York state 901.
Six main types of crime are included in the F.B.I. survey: murder, assault, robbery, burglary, larceny and auto theft. In Kingston, larcenies were most numerous, with 127 reported. The other totals were burglaries, 30; auto thefts, 18; assaults, 3, and no robberies or murders.
The report warns of the necessity of guarding against still further increases in thefts of automobiles, tires, and all other rationed goods, which has been evident to a marked degree since our entry into the war. The prediction is, that with the continued shortages of specific commodities, will come their attempted theft. This the police throughout the country are preparing to prevent.

START FIGHTING FIRE NOW
There are many big civilian defense jobs to be done. And one of the biggest is the creation of an adequate fire defense in this country. That is a job which must be done by all the people.
The two coasts of America are definitely combat areas. Both are susceptible to air and naval attack. In addition, many important inland points could be reached by a determined enemy. These are facts, unpleasant as they may seem. And if attack comes, the thermite-magnesium incendiary bomb is almost certain to be the principal weapon used. Mild in appearance, weighing but slightly more than two pounds, it is one of the most terrible agents of destruction ever invented by man.
Luckily, these and other incendiaries can be controlled. Their danger can be tremendously minimized if trained men and women are available to fight them. England was saved by its fire-fighting forces. Perhaps, some day, that will be said of American cities and towns. And these forces will consist very largely of volunteers—people who give their time and services to civil defense after working hours.
Even if we are not attacked from without, this work will produce fine fruit. As C. Lester Walker writes in Harper's, "We are a profligate race where fire is concerned. . . . The flames have taken $3,000,000,000 of our property since 1929 and each year 10,000 lives. So if the war-born alarms and precautions cut our normal fire losses even ten per cent, all the effort, time, and money—and even the hysteria—will have been worth it."
Every civilian can help in this war against fire. Do your share—and start doing it right now.

GERMAN COMEBACK

We are being prepared for a reversal of the German retreat in Russia. Of late both Russian gains and Russian claims have diminished, and spring is near. There will be a season of impassable mud, likely to affect both sides. Then if the Germans really can take the offensive, they are likely to do so. From all accounts the occupied countries and subject states are being combed for men who might either fight, or relieve those who could.
Napoleon continued war and won major battles two years and more after a much more disastrous Russian retreat. It is to be feared that there is still plenty of life left in the Nazi army.
WEST POINT
In MacArthur's brave fight our West Pointers are not always getting adequate recognition as such. Yet without them we would have done even less than we have. MacArthur himself was one, as well as being a former superintendent of the academy.

West Point has not always been the backbone of the army. Not until the Mexican War did the cadets play any important part. Of that war Winfield Scott, hero of two wars and commander-in-chief of the army when the Civil War broke out, said:
"But for our graduated cadets the war might and probably would have lasted some four or five years, with, in its first half, more defeats than victories falling to our share."
Since then, whenever we have had a war, the West Pointers have been in the thick of it, and to them is due the bulk of our military achievements.

BURGERS

Hamburgers are known to all of us. Newer, but still familiar, are steakburgers and cheeseburgers. Now comes a Florida restaurant advertising turtleburgers.
The idea has possibilities. Appleburger might go well for Ulster county in connection with its annual Apple Blossom celebration. There could also be fishburgers, jellyburgers, eggburgers and chickenburgers. No one contemplating these developments could call our language dead. But it is not the kind of English we were taught in school.

CLEVER CHINESE
The Chinese seem to have thought of everything first: the compass, gunpowder, printing. Now it is taxicabs. Arthur C. Moule, an English writer, has found that 1,000 years ago the gifted Chinese had invented a carriage with a dummy figure in the rear seat. With every revolution of the wheel this figure would strike a bell with a hammer, and thus record the progress of the carriage.
To us the real wonder is not merely that the Chinese had taxicabs, but that they seem also to have invented Charlie McCarthy.

It seems as if the various Indian nations and factions may settle down and work together when the irresistible force meets the immovable body.

THAT BODY OF YOURS
By James W. Barton, M.D.
(Registered in accordance with the Copyright Act)
HELPING THE ASTHMATIC CHILD
As medical students we were told that the cause of asthma was unknown, that treatment was having the patient breathe in amyl nitrite or taking nitroglycerin. There was nothing to worry about as asthma never killed the patient.
Today we know the cause of asthma in a great many cases and not only can the attack be promptly relieved but as the cause can be removed, the case can be cured.
Seeing an adult suffer with an attack of asthma is distressing but, as Dr. Bret Ratner, Bellevue Hospital, New York, well says in the Mississippi Doctor, "There is no more distressing experience than having to deal with a child in the throes of an asthmatic attack. The parents are naturally alarmed and friends and relatives are sure to be free with all sorts of advice."
The 'immediate' care of an asthmatic child comprises the six following measures: (1) assurance of fresh air by an open window or an electric fan; (2) administration of a soap suds enema; (3) removal to another room; (4) placing the child in an upright position; (5) a hypodermic of 2 to 3 minims (drops) of adrenalin (1 to 1000), repeated if necessary every 15 to 30 minutes; and (6) giving a quieting drug. If these six measures fail to bring relief, the child should be removed to the hospital where more powerful remedies may be given.
After an attack the cause should be investigated by scratch tests of various articles used by the child such as stuffing from upholstery, pillows, mattresses, dust from rugs and draperies, and material from toys.
Next, the foods eaten are investigated and one by one the three foods which most commonly cause asthma are left out of the diet. These three foods are (a) milk, pasteurized milk, buttermilk, dry milks, cream, butter, ice cream, bread, cakes and puddings; (b) eggs—raw or lightly cooked, cakes, ice cream; (c) wheat—bread (white, brown and rye), cakes and puddings.
In addition to leaving out these suspected foods from the diet, the child's general condition should receive attention according to the following program: (1) A great deal of rest. (2) A well balanced diet to which some form of vitamin B1 is added. (3) Some form of iron. (4) Thyroid extract when the basal metabolism rate (rate at which body processes work) is below normal.
These measures should give considerable relief while the search is being made for the cause of the asthmatic attacks.

"AT CENTURY'S TURN"

By H. L. VAN DEUSEN

One of the oldest readers of The Freeman in Kingston is Mrs. Fred Pruden of Spruce street, who is confined to her bed by illness at the present time. Mrs. Pruden has a keen and active mind and has no difficulty in recalling memories of her early girlhood.
Mrs. Pruden follows events chronicled in this column every night, and from time to time I have received interesting letters from her regarding some incident in which I had made a minor error.
One of her earliest recollections, and one she says she will never forget, is the light that a joint celebration was held to mark the passing of the villages of Kingston and Rondout which were joined together into the city of Kingston by an act of the state legislature.
The birth of Kingston followed many exciting and interesting events as both Kingston and Rondout desired to have the new city named in their honor. Rondout folks called attention to the fact that there were already a number of Kingstons scattered throughout the nation, and that there was no other Rondout on the country's map.
At one time two separate bills were in the state legislature each calling for the changing of the villages into cities of Kingston and Rondout, and it was not until leading residents of both villages after many joint meetings agreed to name the new city Kingston.
Mrs. Pruden wrote that she was a small girl at the time the city was born but she recalls distinctly the celebration that marked the city's birth.
Personally I recall that as a boy I attended many parties held at her home during the years between 1900-08 which had been arranged by her daughter, Helen, who is now married and resides with her family in Newark, N. J.
Undoubtedly there are many boys and girls who are now men and women who still have the flashlight pictures that were taken at the parties. In a recent article I recall that the era between 1900-10 should be known as either the flashlight era or the party era.
In those days the movies had not come into existence, and the principal attractions were the old stock companies that would play week stands at the old Liscomb Opera House, now the Orpheum Theatre, and in the old Kingston Opera House.
In those days they were known as the ten-twenty and thirty for the price of admission ranged from ten cents to 30 cents.

New Drive Is Underway to Stifle Any Criticism of the Administration
By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, March 19—There's a new drive on to stifle criticism of the administration. It is by means of the outcry that such criticism gives "aid and comfort" to the enemy.
Even if the truth reveals that the politicians inside the government are bungling the war effort, even if the facts disclose colossal waste, mismanagement and incompetence, the critics must not say anything about it—why, it may possibly be used by Berlin in its short wave broadcasts!
This amazing technique has been invented by the New Deal propagandists and press agents who, as a rule, write the speeches for the higher-ups. It is a method undoubtedly adopted to discredit honest criticism because it, of course, tends to question the activities of the New Deal party which is in charge of the government. Before next November, the cry will probably reach its climax in the warning that the American people must not vote for any but New Deal candidates for Congress because to elect others would be giving "aid and comfort" to the enemy.
The policy of calling unpalatable criticism a "means of doing Hitler's work," because it allegedly divides the American people, has been slowly but surely coming to the surface. The same charge was made the other day by an administration spokesman who sought to prevent the House of Representatives from voting funds to the Dies committee. By a vote of 331 to 46, however, the committee was continued anyway.
The latest to fall victim to the device is Donald Nelson, a conscientious and well-meaning public servant. But he was poorly advised when he used radio time on the major networks Tuesday night to tell the American people that his industry-labor committees are being attacked by Berlin's short wave radio and that hence the criticism made by Americans was groundless.
Mr. Nelson's speech said his plan was neither a labor plan nor a management plan, neither a scheme to tear down nor to build up unions, and that critics who were trying to make it appear as anything else but a war production board plan were doing Hitler's work in America by dividing the people.
Now, what are the facts? Philip Murray, head of the C.I.O., has been advocating the organization of labor-industry committees for more than a year. He has outlined a plan for each basic industry which resembles in some respects the Italian Fascist plan of state-controlled labor organizations and in some respects the Soviet system of workers' committees. But whatever the plan resembles, it seeks to usurp the management function and has been widely heralded as a C.I.O. plan. Industry has fought it repeatedly. And the moment Mr. Nelson made his first announcement of the committees, the C.I.O. chieftain was on the air promptly from coast to coast with a speech gloating over the fact that Mr. Nelson had adopted the principles of the C.I.O. plan.
It is fantastic to suppose that, in the exercise of one of the President's "four freedoms," the debate inside America over production methods or anything else will give "aid and comfort" to the enemy. The aid and comfort comes not out of words but out of acts of commission or omission—when American seafarers and sailors do not have adequate weapons with which to fight. It must have given the Axis nations plenty of aid and comfort, for instance, when they read of how our naval fleet was defeated in the Far East because of lack of ships and air power, when they read of how American bombers were forced to fly away from Java because of the shortage of fighter planes, and when they read of how our valuable oil tankers are being torpedoed along our own coasts for lack of air and naval patrols.
Berlin and Tokio will derive far more comfort from the results of our failure to lengthen the straight-time work week than from the agitation to do away with those peacetime standards which penalize the use of overtime and thus deter maximum production. (Reproduction rights reserved).

The large old dwelling house on the Ezekiel Freer farm at Plutarch near New Paltz, now owned by Edward Benjamin, was burned to the ground last Sunday morning. The rooms on the north side were occupied by Mr. Freer, who was not at home when the fire started. Most of the furniture in the down stairs rooms occupied by Mr. Benjamin was saved. There was no wind so the fire did not spread to other nearby buildings. The fire in the house had gained so much headway before it was discovered to be brought under control. It is understood that the loss is partly covered by insurance.

Washington in Wartime
By Jack Stinnett
Washington—There are hardly any lengths the Army won't go to see that the mail goes through to the boys, no matter where they are.
But with ever-increasing numbers of troops in far places such as Ireland, Iceland and Australia, and every inch of space on ships needed for supplies, the problem isn't an easy one to solve. That's why the Army is going to inaugurate "V-mail" the photographing of letters on small film.
According to Brig.-Gen. William C. Rose, the Army's No. 1 mailman, several hundred letters can be photographed on a small roll of film. Hundreds of rolls can be transported to our distant theatres of war operation and there the enlarged photographic copies made for delivery. Not only will the mail go through but it will go through faster and much more safely.
Next to decent and regular food, the Army considers mail from home the most important morale factor for troops. So far, says General Rose, only one ship carrying mail to Army forces abroad has been sunk. Since most of the mail is carried on lightly armed supply ships, the safety factor in flying "V-mail" is one of its most important.
The Army postal service now has 100 officers and 1,000 men, nearly all formerly postoffice employees. And right now, they are handling 1,000,000 pieces of mail a day to and from such distant spots as the South Pacific, Alaska, Hawaii, Iceland, Great Britain and the Atlantic bases. The men on Bataan Peninsula are the only men in our armed forces who are not getting mail from home.
When "V-mail" deliveries really get under way, it will be possible even to keep up deliveries to troops making an isolated stand, simply by dropping it by parachute.
Even if more mail-carrying ships are sunk, says General Rose, the loss of mail won't come up to the total that now is lost by misdirection. In spite of the Army's campaign to inform relatives and friends exactly how to address letters and parcels, practically all of the complaints about letters not having been received can be traced to improper addressing.
The address should carry the name and grade of the soldier; his serial number, if known; complete identification of his military unit (for example, Company A, 301st Infantry); and most important of all, his Army postoffice number.
Mail for overseas units must be addressed to the Army Postoffice Office in care of the postmaster at New York, Seattle, San Francisco, etc., depending on the location of the soldier's unit station. It should never be addressed to any foreign city. Letters so addressed would inform anyone who sees them of the location of the unit, a closely guarded military secret.

Officials May Shut Down Tabloid as Fomenting Upsets

London Daily Mirror Is Warned It Might Be Suppressed for Defeatism

London, March 19 (AP)—An official spokesman said today the Daily Mirror, a tabloid whose editorials generally have been critical of the government, had been warned that it might be suppressed.

Under defense regulations, any newspaper that systematically publishes matter calculated to foment opposition to the war effort may be closed down.

A recent Mirror cartoon showing a man in a trench coat on a raft bore the caption "Price of petrol has been raised a penny." Objections were made that the drawing suggested seamen were risking their lives in order that capital might profit.

The question also was raised whether the cartoon did not act as a conductor of defeatism and might not discourage seamen from serving their country.

An official spokesman said: "The cartoon in question is only one example, but a particularly evil example, of the policy and methods of a newspaper which is intent on exploiting an appetite for sensation and which, with reckless indifference to the national interest and to their prejudicial effect on the war effort, repeatedly has published scurrilous misrepresentations, distorted and exaggerated statements, and impossible generalizations."

"In the same issue a leading article stated: 'The accepted tip for army leadership would, in plain words, be this: All who aspire to mislead the other in war should be brass-buttoned, arrogant and fussy. A tendency to heart disease, apoplexy, diabetes and high blood pressure is desirable in the highest spots.' 'Reasonable criticism on specific points and persons is one thing,' said the spokesman. 'General violent denunciation manifestly tending to undermine the army and depress the whole population is quite another. Such insidious attacks are not to be excused by calls in other parts of the paper for more vigorous action.'"

MacArthurs Made Getaway in Fast U. S. Torpedoboat

New York, March 19 (AP)—Small but fast motor torpedoboats carried General Douglas MacArthur, his wife and child, and a small group of aides on the perilous first leg of their journey from Bataan peninsula to Australia, according to a copyrighted Melbourne dispatch published today by the New York Herald Tribune.

The correspondent, Allen Raymond, learned that the MacArthur party left Bataan by night on March 11 and traveled south along the coast of the Philippine Islands for two nights, hiding in bayous during the daylight hours, to reach the rendezvous with the big planes which carried the group to Australia.

Three days of the one-week journey was spent in waiting for the planes, it was said.

At times the little boats were pounded by heavy seas, Raymond learned. He quoted a member of the party as saying: "We took a terrific pounding—in spots it was like riding in one of those outboard-motor racing boats."

The point of their arrival in Australia, Raymond wrote, naturally is secret, but the planes which landed the MacArthurs and their party in Australia March 17 kept clear of Darwin, northern Australia port which has been under repeated air attack.

Men Whose Wives Are Pregnant to Be Deferred

Washington, March 19 (AP)—The next selective service registration, officials said today, has been set tentatively for "late in the spring or early summer."

Awaiting to be enrolled are men of 18 and 19 years old, those between 45 and 64. They are not liable to compulsory military service.

Whether the two groups will be registered at the same time or separately was said to be undecided as were the definite dates. Brig. Gen. Louis B. Hershey, national selective service director, suggested at Tuesday's draft lottery the possibility that men not summoned to army duty eventually might be required to do essential war work of other kinds. Officials noted, however, that Congress has not granted authority for a compulsory work-or-flight order, and no details have been worked out.

Meanwhile, a new opinion by the national draft board of review raised a likelihood of a general deferment for men whose wives are expecting a child.

The opinion was given in the case of a man placed by his local board in Class 1-A subject to duty, although he had married since his registration and his wife had become pregnant. A state appeals board placed him in deferred Class 5-A, but the state director appealed further to President Roosevelt.

The National Board of Review, which makes recommendations to the chief executive, ruled that the man appeared to have married to escape the draft, but as Congress thus far had failed to make provision for deferment of draftees, he should be deferred for the time being because of the prospective additional dependant.

This season of meatless meals many provide some problems for the homemaker—frequently the men complain that meat substitute dishes aren't substantial, and don't hit the spot when it comes to flavor.

Here, however, are some that will appeal to any man, and also are in keeping with the new ideas for budget-balancing and high nutrition in war time.

Capt. R. H. Decker, Retired Boatman, Dies at Age of 92

Captain Reuben Henry Decker, 92, retired Hudson river boatman, died Wednesday in his home in Highland. He had been in failing health for some time.

Captain Decker was born July 18, 1849, in Plattkill, the son of the late Stephen and Sarah M. Fowler Decker. His ancestry traces back to Holland, his paternal grandfather having come to this country from Holland with five brothers.

Mr. Decker spent his boyhood on his father's farm at Plattkill and attended the school at Ten Stone Meadow, Tuckers Corners. After working on the farm until he was 18, Mr. Decker went to New York, where he obtained a position as a street car conductor. For 15 years, he worked on the Belt line that operated around Manhattan. In 1873, he came to Highland and had resided there since that time.

Two years after going there Mr. Decker married Suzanne Eckert, daughter of the late Zachariah Eckert. His wife survives.

About that time, Mr. Decker entered the milling business of his father-in-law, where he remained for 15 years, until he purchased a drug store in the village. After operating the store for a year, he sold the business and entered the field of river boating.

It was in 1893, through his friend, John Brinkerhoff, executive of the transportation company which bore his name, that Mr. Decker was attracted to the river. His first job was as purser on the D. S. Miller, well known vessel which operated for freight and passengers between Poughkeepsie and New York. It took only six years for Mr. Decker to become captain. In 1899, he was made captain of the famous old John L. Hasbrouck and in 1900, he ran the

James W. Baldwin between Kingston and New York, later returning as skipper to the D. S. Miller. He was with the Central Hudson Steamboat company until 1908, when he retired. Some of the other boats under his command were "The Roamer," "Central Hudson," "Ramsdell," "Newburgh" and "The Walter Brett."

He also saw service on the Poughkeepsie-Highland ferries, first running on the ferry Brinkerhoff in 1876 and more recently in 1921 and 1922. Captain Decker was the last person alive who collected on the ferry which formerly operated from the upper landing located where the Gas and Electric company now has its wharf. After his retirement from active service, Mr. Decker remained with the Poughkeepsie-Highland Ferry company in an official capacity. He also served the town of Highland as a fire commissioner for 15 years.

Outside of his professional career, Captain Decker had two records of which he could be justly proud. For 60 years, he was a member of Adonal lodge, F. and A. M., of this village and for 63 consecutive years, he was a trustee of the Highland Methodist Church. Active in the Masonic lodge, which presented him with a 60-year medal in January, Mr. Decker was treasurer of the lodge in 1883 and 1884 and held several other offices, including that of junior warden.

Surviving, in addition to his wife, are a brother, Arthur Decker, New York; a sister, Mrs. Amelia Elmenford, Clintondale; and several nieces and nephews.

Funeral services will be conducted at the home at 2:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon. The Rev. Samuel Art MacCormac, pastor of the Methodist Church, will officiate. Burial will be in Highland cemetery.

26 AGAINST THE AXIS: 16

CUBA—The Cuba Libre has nothing to do with Cuba. It is a pleasant alcoholic drink concocted of rum and a cola beverage and was created by a soft drink salesman to boost his sales. But Cuba has been free (of Spanish domination) since 1898 (Remember the Maine?) and a constitutional republic since 1902. Sugar is Cuba's major crop and it is only 100 miles across the Strait of Florida to Key West, relatively good news in the light of sugar shortages and rationing (a Cuban sugar transport was reported sunk recently en route to the states). Former sergeant, then colonel and since February 5 Major General Fulgencio Batista, who led the sergeant's revolution in 1933 when the Cuban Army took over the republic, now runs the country's 4,228,000 residents and makes life in Havana, etc., pleasant for the thousands of tourists. The war has stopped them just as Sloppy Joe's used to stop them; and the war already has dried up that famous oasis. The island's army, navy and police total 20,000, with 30,000 reservists including women as well as men. Cuba declared war against Germany April 7, 1917, a day after the United States got into the first World War. Cuban aid in this country while others seized German shipping and stood guard at home. The "Pearl of the Antilles" gave America the conga, the rumba, Havana fillers for good cigars and the rum to go with them. Cuba, and Havana especially, is so close by plane and ship (major league baseball players took their spring training there this year) and so well visited, that most Americans think of the island as a vacation suburb of Florida. Guantanamo is almost that for our flag flies over a great American naval base there, one of the key defense points for the Panama Canal and for our long-range air patrols.

Growers Expect More Turkeys

Many Factors Will Bear on '42 Crop

Albany, March 19—Turkeys for next Thanksgiving and Christmas will be more abundant by 8 percent than in 1941 if the intentions to raise these birds expressed in a recent survey are realized, according to a federal-state report issued from the New York State Department of Agriculture and Markets. New York growers intend a 5 percent increase. The various geographic regions of the United States range from 6 to 9 percent more except in the South Atlantic States where 16 percent more are planned. The United States average increase is 8 percent.

About two-fifths of all the turkeys marketed leave the farms in November and another two-fifths in December for the Thanksgiving and Christmas markets, the balance being scattered through the other 10 months.

The average live weight of the turkeys sold in 1941 was about 13 pounds for hens and 19 pounds for toms.

Final Meetings For Conservation Program Listed

The last meetings at which farmers may enroll in the 1942 agricultural conservation program are being arranged for the week of March 23, it was announced today by Harry J. Beatty, chairman, Ulster county Agricultural Conservation Committee.

This is the last chance for Ulster county farmers to fill out a work sheet or order lime at a meeting. As it has been previously announced, no farms will be visited this spring and farmers who have not actually signed an order and paid the cash collection for administrative expenses, have not ordered lime.

The last group of meetings are listed below. All meetings are from 10 a. m. to 4 p. m.:

Stone Ridge—Garrett's Garage, Monday, March 23.
Accord—Farmers' Co-op., Tuesday, March 24.
Pataunkunk—Deyo's Garage, March 25.
Ellenville—Jewish Agr. Society Office, March 26.
Saugerties—Town clerk's office, March 27.
Milton—Grange Hall, March 23.
Modena—Hasbrouck Hall, March 24.
New Paltz—Grange Hall, March 25.
Tuttlestown—Town Hall, March 26.
Walkkill—Town clerk's office, March 27.

Kingston—County office, 74 John street, any day 9 a. m. to 12 p. m.; Saturday, 9 a. m. to 12 p. m. Any farmer in Ulster county is eligible and all those interested are asked to plan to attend one of these meetings, if they are not already signed up.

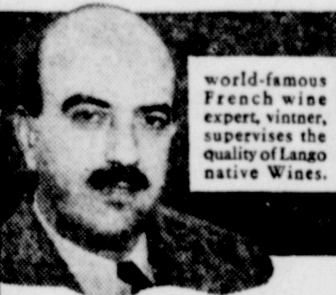

'Bird Day' Proclaimed
Albany, N. Y., March 19 (UP)—Dr. Ernest E. Cole, State Commissioner of Education, today proclaimed April 17 as "Bird Day" and set April 24, May 1 and May 8 as optional dates for observance of Arbor Day.

A volcanic eruption in 1883 on Krakatau, an island between Java and Sumatra, cut the island area in half.

Red Cross War Fund
A substantial contribution toward the $45,000 American Red Cross War Fund to be raised by the Ulster County Committee will help keep the fighting men healthy, happy and efficient.

during the year, while of the young turkeys hatched, a fourth have been lost before maturity. Losses of young turkeys have been lighter in the North Atlantic States than elsewhere, only 18 percent losses having occurred on the average in contrast with the 25 percent national average. All of these factors will have a bearing on the production of the 1942 turkey crop.

MacArthur Always Has Been 'Rebel' In Eyes of Elders

Example of This Was His Streamlining of Courses at West Point in Years 1919-22

(How Douglas MacArthur defied army tradition and still proved himself "a soldier's soldier" is told by Frank I. Weller in another world article on the new supreme commander of the United Nations forces in the southwest Pacific.)

By FRANK I. WELLER

Washington, March 19.—(Wide World)—The new United Nations Commander in the Southwest Pacific "Doug" MacArthur, always was a "rebel" in eyes of the old-line army officers. He grinned at them, and pranced all over their dignity and military conservatism.

Take the time he came back from the first World War wearing 19 medals—and a bar! His own grateful country and foreign governments which never had seen his name bestowed the honors, but the "kid general" (then 35) made the bet himself. He simply took out the metal spring that held the new "Pershing Cap" for officers so stiffly round and proud, and let the crown flop over the nearest ear.

There he went, Commander of the famous Rainbow Division in France and of the American Occupation force in Germany, clanking around Washington with all the oak leaf clusters you can get on a Distinguished Service Cross and a Distinguished Service Medal—cap-pie with swag, stick, ridiculously long cigarette holder and a gorgeous pair of Russian boots. Conservatives snickered that he looked like a Cossack, or something.

What really got their goat, and in the end got MacArthur's post-war job as well, was his "liberalization" of West Point training while superintendent of the military academy in 1919-22.

Old-timers swore by the 4-year academic course fashioned in 1817 by Col. Sylvanus Thayer, father of West Point. MacArthur put the boys through the wringer in three years, streamlining tactics and maneuvers, and lopped off a lot of venerable courses in favor of modern military studies including electricity and aerodynamics. He was a great one for tanks and airplanes.

Equally unforgivable, perhaps, was his order that cadets devote two afternoons each week to intramural sports instead of the century-old grandstand stomping in military gear. He was an athletic 6-footer himself.

Upon the field of friendly strife, he caused to be carved in to Academy walls, "For seven the seeds which, upon other fields and on other days, will bear the fruits of victory!"

Reports to Congress

Well, he finally reported to Congress (in 1922) that West Point, "from the superintendent to the newest plebeian," agreed the four-year course should be reinstated. This ended two howls about MacArthur's "sacrilege" of tradition, removed him from the academy and sent him off to an army post in the Philippine Islands until 1925.

He next got his neck in a noose with conservatives when President Hoover named him Chief of Staff of the Army in 1930. Little old corps and divisions with their top-heavy officer staffs, he said, would be about on a par with the next war with boys hunting bears with a B-B gun.

Almost before anyone knew it, he set up the structure on which, today, the United States has four field armies united under the Commander-in-Chief (President Roosevelt) but each designed to carry on a first class war of its own.

He lamented to Congress for five years, without avail, the lack of money for modern weapons, advanced strategy, mechanized and motorized equipment and airplanes. He deplored the spectacle of a great country, dedicated to peace trying to convince the rest of the world with an army of 150,000. Tax-minded congressmen refused to allow him even 44,000 more men, despite his warning from George Washington's book that the nation least forced to fight was the one best prepared to do it.

Roosevelt Sets Precedent

President Roosevelt, setting a precedent, kept him on as chief of staff for one year beyond the traditional four and on his voluntary retirement at the age of 57—eight years before the law required it—permitted him to accept an invitation of the Philippine government to become its marshal.

That suited MacArthur right down to the grass roots. Filipino President Quezon told him to write his own ticket, whereupon "Doug" trained, sweat, swore, earned and ate with his men. Veterans, historically exclusive, had a fit. No general, said they, should pal around with private soldiers. But MacArthur wanted them to know their commander was one of them.

He discarded whatever training of traditional U. S. Army, mingled with his men, helped them heave and haul tanks and cannon into place, and yelled his head off for warplanes and

Political Problems: Can a Divided India Withstand Invasion?

By PAUL J. C. FRIEDLANDER
Wide World Features Writer

India is bracing herself now for a possible invasion from the Aryans (according to Hitler) Germans from the west and from the Aryans (also according to Hitler) Japanese from the east. Three thousand years of India was overwhelmed by a real Aryan (ethnologically speaking) invasion. Many of the tangled problems that make her proposed independence a headache both to England and India can be traced to that first invasion.

In a generally tropical country as large as that of the United States east of the Rocky Mountains, 350 million people representing more than 45 races speak 225 languages, are separated into 2,400 castes and tribes, and practice nine major religions. Eleven provinces have some measure of 562 Indian states are ruled by Indian princes.

How to comprise all these conflicts is the Indian problem—then how to keep them comprised under an independent native government.

British opponents of independence assert it can't be done. Indian independence leaders say it can; Indian moderates aren't sure; Indian minorities are worried about what would happen to their rights under Hindu majority control.

Winston Churchill has sent Sir Stafford Cripps to India with an offer of independence—after the war—if the government's scheme can "win a reasonable and practical measure of acceptance."

In 1939 Mohandas K. Gandhi, nominal head of the Congress Party (Hindu movement for complete, immediate independence) rejected talk of protecting minority rights until after freedom was achieved. A year later Gandhi feared civil war from the Moslem's militant attitude.

Congress Party leftists then threatened civil war to prevent a possible compromise with the British, and Sir Hugh O'Neill, Parliamentary under secretary for India, told Commons Britain would not grant India complete independence. Later that year, Britain promised India free and equal partnership in her empire. The India problem goes round and round like a whirling dervish.

Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru, now active leader of the Congress Party, demands freedom without dominion status and says he represents most of India's 240 million Hindus. But the Hindus are divided by their religion which is really a caste system of society, topped by the supreme Brahmins and reaching down to 50 million untouchables. It is this system the Hindus received from their Aryan invasion. The lighter-skinned Aryans set up castes to prevent intermarriages with natives. The complicated form of worship they invented to bulwark their caste system eventually developed into Hinduism.

The 77 million Moslems or Mohammedans practice a mon-theistic and democratic religion even more at odds with the Hindus and their caste system than are the religions of the 14 million Indian Christians, the more than 4 million Sikhs and the 1 1/4 million Jains (a modification of Hinduism). The Moslem League wants Moslem independence from the Hindus and the rest of India as well as from England, with the northeast territories as their own independent state. The Sikhs, the warrior tribes who live there, object, along with Hindus and other minorities of that section.

The Parsis, descendants of early Persian settlers in India, who constitute most of the capitalists class, can't go along with Nehru's Congress because they fear his pledge to socialize Indian industry and his interest in Marxism and Russian Communism.

In the meantime, the untouchables are struggling with the help of enlightened members of the higher castes to lift their caste restrictions. In a crowded thoroughfare of a modern city it is difficult to keep an untouchable or his shadow from touching a Brahmin. But an orthodox Brahmin must purify himself with elaborate ceremonies if this happens and the untouchable is wise to avoid his wrath.

ing a lieutenant colonel from Prussian trenches over his shoulder. At Du Feys he attacked a German machine-gun nest armed only with a bayonet.

He never would follow cut-and-dried army regulations, and usually turned his derelictions in this respect into spectacular successes. Critics conceded that while he had a "hot head" in battle he had a "cool head" for strategy. How did one man get that way? Well, "Doug's" favorite story may tell you. It's about an Irish sergeant in his father's army when he was a lad.

"Tired ye may be," said the top-kick to a weary recruit, "but march on ye must!"

Overtures and Sweet Words

Morgan and LaGuardia Woo One Another as Aftermath to Their Bitter Battle in December

New York, March 19 (AP)—A long-standing feud between Mayor F. H. LaGuardia and William F. Morgan Jr., which resulted in the latter's resignation as Commissioner of Markets last December 27, appeared to be settled today after an interchange of sweetly worded letters.

First overture was made yesterday by Morgan, now executive director of the Metropolitan Package Stores Association, an organization of liquor store operators, who demanded that the Mayor either publicly clear him of wrongdoing or publicly state his complaints of Morgan's eight-year administration as markets chief.

While this in itself was no bid for peace, the letter was tempered with "a bit of advice." "You are a sorely overworked man," Morgan wrote, and your nerves are shot to pieces. Why don't you go away and take a real and much-needed vacation, and when you come back, forgive and forget?"

Instead of being angry, LaGuardia replied in a friendly tone, addressing Morgan as "Dear Fellow."

Morgan said later at his Mount Kisco home that he would gladly accept the Mayor's invitation to call on him at City Hall, probably next Monday or Tuesday, but that he intended to "see this (new) job through."

Explaining his resignation as markets head last December, Morgan said he quit because LaGuardia had attempted to interfere with the operations of his department. Later the Mayor charged in a radio speech that there were irregularities in connection with the departmental administration.

Mathematics Plays Vital, if Strange Part in This War

Branch of Probabilities, or Popularly Known as Dice Mathematics, Gives Answers

By HOWARD BLAKESLEE

Cambridge, Mass., March 19 (AP)—Mathematics is getting into this war in strange ways.

The war mathematics is not the two plus two kind, but queer-looking signs, figures shaped like tridents, like waves standing on edge, like musical symbols and a mixture of Greek and English letters.

War is using the mathematics of dice (formal name is mathematics of probability), of waves, functions, differentials and tensors.

All of it is intensely practical. News dispatches tell of dud bombs and shells. There are ways and ways to eliminate them from a nation's arsenal, but the quickest one involves mathematics.

Everyone knows that mathematics is used in aiming big guns, but few realize the fast-moving targets require mathematics even before the guns are aimed. When blitz machines break down, mathematics enters to explain. When the causes are deep in mystery, mathematics again serves.

It is not possible to inspect each of the millions of parts used in any branch of war, such as the dud shells. Instead the inspector samples a lot of war goods. That is where the probability mathematics comes in. The laws of probability fix the number of samples, the places to select them from.

This probability mathematics started centuries ago with dice. In craps, using two dice, six combinations will give a seven, the total combinations are 36. Hence the probability of a seven is one-sixth.

No expert is needed to know that, but when the chances run into millions or billions, as in war sampling, and involve also stresses, tensile strength, vibration, crystalline structure and wave mechanics, a mathematician comes in handy.

The Massachusetts Institute of Technology committee for applied mathematics is pioneering some of this war activity. This kind of work got its start in industry where great manufacturing concerns discovered that mathematics could save them hundreds of thousands of dollars annually. Of these savings, the most spectacular came from applying the old dice mathematics.

Four Fliers Die In Ohio Crashes

Army Seeks Explanation Why Four Craft Fell in Snowstorm

Lima, O., March 19 (AP)—The army air corps sought today an explanation of a remarkable coincidence in which four pursuit planes crashed within a half-mile radius at almost the same time.

Pilots of all four died in the flaming wreckage.

Crews to the cause may be found by officials of Patterson Field, near Dayton, O., when they examine the charred parts being collected by a salvage crew.

The planes, out of Detroit on a mission for the air corps ferry command, came down in a snowstorm late yesterday on farms six miles east of here.

The dead, all second lieutenants, were: Edward H. Saunders, 26, of Lake Village, Ark., flight leader.

Arnel J. Kennedy, 26, of Oklahoma City.

Eugene H. Anderson, of Kewanee, Ill.

Earl A. Houser, 23, of Pesotum, Ill.

Officials said there was evidence one pilot tried to use his parachute but his plane struck the ground before he could bail out.

will be open in addition to the regular hours, this Friday evening and next Tuesday evening from 7 to 9 o'clock.

One Serious Phase Is Increase in Atrocity Reports

If True, Cases Indicate Axis Is Trying by Savagery to Overcome Arms Failure

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

(Wide World War Analyst)

The heavy and continued destruction of Japanese invasion ships off northern Australia by Allied air power, the successful inauguration of the MacArthur command after an epic break through a well-nigh air-tight blockade, the further gains reported today in the fierce Russian offensive against the Hitlerian forces—all these are milestones marking the downward trail of the Axis.

And so, because the enemy is at a critical passage where desperate means are likely to be employed, it is a matter of grave concern to see the claims of Axis atrocities piling up. The news today contains two more cases—the atrocities charged against the Germans in Poland by the Polish government-in-exile, and the Russian military report that the Nazis have slain 30,000 civilians in the strategic southwestern city of Kharkov since the occupation on October 24.

The conclusion must be that, if these barbarities happened as charged, the Axis powers are deliberately resorting to savagery in an effort to win by these means a war which they have been unable to win by arms and which definitely is slipping away from them. This naturally gives rise to the thought that the nearer the Axis comes to defeat, the greater may be the employment of terrorism.

Story of Cruelty

The Polish charges form part of a note addressed to the Allied and neutral governments by the Polish-foreign office, and set forth a story of barbaric brutality. The government alleges, and produces documentary evidence and affidavits in support, that 200,000 people have been murdered in cold blood; that 1,000,000 more have been driven from their homes; that there have been many instances of collective rape; that countless Polish girls have been sent to brothels in Germany.

This comes on the heels of the sensational charges made in the British House of Commons a few days ago by Foreign Secretary Eden that the Japanese had been guilty of wholesale atrocities in occupied Hongkong. Captain Eden said that 50 British officers and men had been bound hand and foot and then bayoneted to death. Women were raped and murdered. These things, he said, were confirmed by eye-witnesses.

"Their testimony," declared Eden, "established the fact that the Japanese army at Hongkong perpetrated against their helpless military prisoners and civil population without distinction of race or color the same kind of barbarities which aroused the horror of the civilized world at the time of the Nanking massacres of 1937."

The Japanese government has denied all these charges.

Another Class of Atrocity

There is another class of atrocity which is being conducted so openly that the whole world can see it plainly. That is the starvation of entire populations through the stripping of their countries of food. To me this is much more terrible than the infliction of quick death by the bayonet which, compared with the slow torture of hunger, is a humane act.

Mass starvation is widespread throughout Europe because countries have been robbed of their food supplies, and the example most often cited is that of poor Greece. Greek officials in Cairo on Monday estimated that starvation, exposure and executions had taken a toll of 150,000 to 200,000 lives in Greece in less than a year of German-Italian occupation. In February deaths in the city of Athens alone reportedly reached 1,500 daily.

It is shocking to think of major powers turning to such brutality in this day of civilization. Still, if that's the color of the beast it's best that we know it now, for it gives fair warning of what we might expect if the Axis should conquer us—which it won't.

To boost its tourist business, Mexico will send a "typical Mexican" to tour the United States and Canada.

Flashes of Life Sketched in Brief

(By The Associated Press)
Big Help
Indianapolis—A passerby saw a negro tumble down steps from the Sengerbund Club, a block from police headquarters, and fall into a hallway of the building. He helped the man to his feet and the man ran on outside.

Then Jack Federspill, 53, club bartender, came along and told the good Samaritan the negro had just held him up and robbed the safe of $600.

Everybody's Doing It
Michigan City, Ind.—Despite the fact they can't get to sales booths, inmates at Indiana State Prison have purchased $5,400 in defense stamps and bonds.

J. Edgar Wetzel, secretary to Warden A. F. Dowd, said one prisoner invested $5,000 in bonds.

There are 2,585 inmates in the prison.

Unexpected Development
Opelika, Ala.—Lacking a siren, civilian defense officials gave air raid wardens small whistles to blow in event of a blackout.

The warning signal finally came and the wardens sounded off.

For five minutes the blackout was complete. Then came a hitch—a train roared through town and blew its whistle.

Residents immediately turned their lights on.

Clank, Clank, Clank
Kansas City—They've laid the ghost down at the dime store.

Stockroom employees hunted for several days for the weird, plaintive sounds. Then Frank MacDonald opened a crate of lampshades from Philadelphia. Inside were two tiny kittens. A saucer of milk restored the peace and quiet of old.

The Riot Squad, Please
Spokane, Wash.—Wanta know where you can get a set of tires? (Leggo, we'll tell).

The police confiscated a set. That's right, four automobile tires. And they'll sell them to the highest bidder.

April 11 is the date, and the auction is open to the public.

Scoop
San Diego, Calif.—An excited man telephoned a newspaper office.

"There's a big riot at Consolidated," he panted. "The place is swarming with police and soldiers, and they got their guns out."

He was partly right.

The guard at the aircraft plant was being changed.

Boys Plan Salvage Drive

The Kingston Rotary Boys' Club has organized to collect salvage materials during the present war emergency, and a large box in which to deposit the articles has been placed in front of the local Y. M. C. A. building. In addition to the boys in the above photograph may be seen Harry Edson of the Rotary Club, Mayor William F. Edelmuth, who inaugurated the campaign Tuesday, and Secretary George Goodfellow of the "Y" who is general chairman of the salvage committee in Kingston.

The boys of the club plan to make a canvass of the city collecting articles, and any one who desires to have articles collected should call the "Y" and the material will be collected. The telephone number is 1100.

The United States took nearly three-quarters of the products shipped from Ecuador in the last year.

Bundles Letters Give Glimpses of Life in Britain

The local Bundles for Britain headquarters at 302 Fair street continues to receive letters from people in England who have been given articles from the station. Two which have just been received give a glimpse of the life in wartime England. The first of these was written by a nine-year-old girl in a child's manner of printing. Following the signature are three rows of tiny X's.

The bodies of the letters are as follows:

"Dear People of America:

Thank you for the coat and the pajamas and the Wellingtons. My name is Sheila Tomkins. I am nine years old. I have got a brother with me. He is 11 years old.

I go to Marrock School. It is nice down here. I go to the Marrock Brownies on Saturdays.

In our house we have a dolls' house. We play with it on Saturdays and Sundays.

My mother is in Exeter. She has three little children.

It is cold today. I went to church today and I wore my coat.

Love from Sheila.

Dear Sir:

Just a short note to say how very grateful I am for the lovely warm air force pullover. I have had given to me. It is a big comfort to me, as I am a transport driver and it is a very cold job, first thing in the morning and especially when we have to work driving all night.

We are in a camp. I cannot tell you a lot, as it would be giving information to the enemy. We have had a lot of snow this winter making driving very dangerous. The roads are just like driving on an ice rink, but still the transport keeps going.

It's a grand life, although I have only been in the W. A. A. F.'s four months, and would not give up this job for anything else in the world, although at the moment times are hard, especially when we try to get sweets and cigarettes. We are allowed 30 a week from the N. A. A. F. but for all that we are happy and keep smiling. I have driven several of our American Air Force and Naval Officers about, and found them very kind and very good to us.

I have also had cigarettes from the Overseas Friends League, and how pleased I was. We get seven days leave once in every three months and 48 hours once a month. It certainly makes you feel very strange when you go back to city.

street, in fact I was not at all upset when I went back to my camp, with my pals.

I will end this letter and please thank your American people very much for the lovely pullover, which I am now wearing.

God bless you all and help you through this terrible war to Victory.

All the very best of luck to you all and may we be friends forever although we have the ocean between us. Nothing can stop friendship. God Luck V . . .

Yours sincerely,
PAT. HARTMAN-HOWARD.

Tired Kidneys Often Bring Sleepless Nights

Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. When they get tired and don't work right in the daytime, many people have to get up at night. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't neglect this condition and lose valuable, restful sleep.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may also cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

On Sunday, March 15, at the Kingston Hospital, Miss Ella Katherine More, of Roxbury, Delaware county, died at the age of 73. Daughter of Otis Preston More and Sarah Noble More, she was born in Roxbury and resided there all her life. In a very real sense she was part of Roxbury and Roxbury was a part of her. The Order of The Eastern Star, the Jay Gould Memorial Reformed Church of Roxbury, and the More Family Association gave wide scope to her activities. She knew personally nearly every person in Roxbury and nearly every person in Roxbury knew her. Deeply public-spirited, she did with her might whatever her hands found to do. Her's was a most useful life and of a distinctive quality that will be long remembered and prove very difficult to replace.

The boys were setting traps for muskrats.

A strong tide is said to have been setting into the cove when the boys were ready to come out and there was just about enough headroom under the trestle to permit the boat to be taken out. The motor was taken off and placed in the bottom of the boat and after Post had gotten out to walk the trestle, the other two boys started to work the boat under the trestle, using their hands to shove it along. The boat was swamped during the operation and swept back into the cove. Walter was swept along with the boat, in the icy cold water. Whether he was struck and rendered unconscious when the boat swamped is not known.

Walter is survived by his step-father and mother; three sisters, Elizabeth, Laura and Mildred; and one brother, Charles, Jr. He was 21 years of age on August 16, last, and had many friends who were shocked at the news of his tragic death and who are extending sincere sympathy to the family in the so sudden loss of the son and brother.

Bit of Mess Results From Yen for Chicken

New York, March 19 (AP)—It was a case of having a chicken but no pot to cook it in.

That was the fix in which Mr. and Mrs. Dan Topping (Sonia Hien) and Mr. and Mrs. Pasquale (Pat) di Cicco (Gloria Morgan Vanderbilt) found themselves on St. Patrick's Day, and there was no little difficulty before they got the pot.

As a result of the trouble Peter Joyce, room clerk at the Drake Hotel on Park avenue, brought a charge of simple assault against di Cicco.

Joyce's story was that Mrs. di Cicco, who lives at the Drake with her new husband, telephoned from the Toppings' Park avenue apartment and asked for the loan of a 10-quart pot in which to cook some chicken cacciatore.

The hotel management, however, ruled that no pot could be lent to the Toppings, the di Ciccos or anybody else, since the pots were of valuable aluminum.

Round to the hotel came di Cicco, Joyce declared, and down went Joyce among some waste-baskets.

di Cicco contended that when he walked into the hotel office Joyce "ran at me with his right raised to hit me. I put my left up, stopped the blow, and hit him."

The Stork Club finally sent over a pot and the chicken was cooked therein.

In Yorkville court today Magistrate William Klapp granted di Cicco's attorneys a one-week adjournment—until March 26—of a hearing on the assault charge.

Japanese to Begin Coast Evacuation

New York, March 19 (AP)—Offerings were small in today's stock market but they were sufficient to put the list on an irregularly lower trail after early mild buying failed to take effect.

Leaders did rather well at the start as enthusiasm over the MacArthur shift persisted. Prices began to slip later and, near the final hour, fractional recessions were a shade in the majority.

There were a few wider declines. The ticker tape frequently came to a full stop and transfers for the full stretch were at the rate of about 300,000 shares.

Bonds were steady and commodities a shade uneven.

Among resistant stocks were U. S. Steel, Santa Fe, Kennecott, Woolworth, General Motors, Sperry, Standard Oil (N. J.) and Johns-Manville.

The chemicals, including Dow and Allied, were soft spots. Backward at times were American Telephone, Eastman Kodak, Union Pacific, Great Northern, Western Union and Bethlehem.

There the Japanese will live in prefabricated houses with community kitchens and community baths and probably engage chiefly in agricultural work. The camp eventually will accommodate 10,000 evacuees.

While General DeWitt's statement was not considered an evacuation order, it did indicate his anxiety to spur Japanese to settle their business affairs quickly and leave the forbidden military zone.

"I encourage and urge the continuation of such movements as the Owens Valley group has started," DeWitt said.

Military Area No. 1 includes the western half of the states of Washington, Oregon and California and the southern part of Arizona.

Aliens and American-born Japanese alike are included in the movement. German and Italian aliens will be ordered out later in a continuing evacuation possibly lasting several months and affecting 200,000 persons.

Need 5,000 Extra Acres of Beans

State Is Likely to Meet Country's Goal

Ithaca, N. Y., Mar. 19 — If New York growers do their part in growing more pea-beans and medium beans desired by the Federal government, they will plant this year about 11 per cent more, or 5,000 more acres, than they planted in 1941.

Prof. E. V. Hardenburg of the vegetable crops department at Cornell says this should not be hard to do, for dry beans are widely adapted to the soil of western New York.

"Farmers will be interested because beans are one of the low-cost crops to produce, and require relatively little labor. The greatest danger is the prospect that too many acres will be planted on heavy, poorly drained soil in counties and regions never before grown to beans."

And, believe it or not, the dry seasons have been the best for many experienced growers, for least trouble was had with stands, diseases, and weathering of the crop at harvest, the Cornell crop specialist says.

He recommends two varieties of pea beans: Robust and Micholite. Certified seed of both is available in New York state. There are no recommended varieties of medium beans. Most of the increase asked by the government should be of pea beans, he says.

"Other important varieties of dry beans, though not in the government purchase program, include red kidneys, white marrow, yellow-eye, and white kidney."

Professor Hardenburg says most of the production boost asked by Uncle Sam should be largely grown in the dry areas, on warm, well drained soils in western New York.

To make all your friends feel that there is something in them.

To forget the mistakes of the past and press on to the greater achievements of the future.

To wear a cheerful countenance at all times and give every living creature you meet a smile.

To give so much time to the improvement of yourself that you have no time to criticize others.

Chapter Ten Warning From Dolores

"DID you get settled comfortably? Like your quarters?" Randy asked her lightly.

"Oh yes—very much," she answered him eagerly. "I love the view—the river. I've always been friends with Old Al and I love having him so close."

"Old Al?" repeated Dolores, puzzled.

"That's what river people call the Mississippi," Randy explained quickly.

"I thought they called him 'Old Man River,'" answered Dolores carelessly.

"That's only the name of a song," said Melissa quietly, "written by a man who wasn't a river man."

"But he did all right as a musician," said Dolores, and smiled as though Melissa had been a small and not very bright child.

"He wrote beautiful music and my mother sang it on the stage," Melissa answered quietly. "It was the first music I ever learned to sing."

"Oh," said Dolores, and her eyebrows went up a little in swift displeasure, as she turned to Randy. "Now see here, Ace, fun's fun—and it's all right with me for you to drag along any pretty little piece of goods that strikes your fancy! But when you let her start singing any of my music—that's out!"

Missus caught her breath, for Dolores wasn't nearly so lovely now and her voice was almost strident.

Randy looked straight at Dolores and his eyes were cold.

"Who said anything about her singing your music?" he demanded curtly. "Melissa is not the torch-singer type—or hadn't you noticed?"

For a moment Dolores' eyes tangled with his. Then she dug a fork viciously into the food on her plate and said through her teeth, "I suppose you are right. She's more of the 'Sweet Alice, Ben Bolt' type—and what you're going to do with her in a night-club floor-show I'm afraid I wouldn't know."

"That's just it, Ducky," said Randy, and though the words were light and pleasant, his tone was still taut. "And isn't it nice you don't have to know? That's for the boys in the band to figure out—which is exactly what you are going to do, right after lunch."

He grinned at Melissa, and her heart stirred a little and came to life and stopped hurting quite so badly; and the lump in her throat slid down a bit so that she realized she was hungry and that the food being served to her was delicious.

Dolores finished her luncheon in an ugly silence which the others at the table pretended not to notice. Alice and Hugh had their heads together with one of the boys in the orchestra, and their laughter made a pleasant, friendly sort of sound.

After lunch when the tables had been cleared by the two negro waiters in their white coats, the orchestra assembled beneath the edge of the stage.

The six old-young men with their worldly-wise, cynical expressions vanished; Alice and Hugh, Randy and Dolores settled themselves to listen to Melissa's audition. And Melissa stood on the stage facing them, hoping desperately that her knees did not visibly tremble.

Bob, who led the orchestra, said with a friendly, heartening smile, "What would you like to sing, Miss Melissenda?"

"Try 'Lonesome Road,' Melissa," said Randy.

"In a night-club? Ace, have you lost your mind?" demanded Dolores sharply.

"I don't think so," answered Randy, and nodded to the orchestra. "Hit it, boys. You can play it straight and then we'll see if we can 'swing' it."

Not So Good

MELISSA set her teeth hard while the orchestra ran through the number. And then she put her head thrust out and sang it. She knew, before she was halfway through it, that she was doing it very badly and that Dolores was laughing at her, sneering at her.

When the last note died away she looked swiftly at Randy and saw his downcast expression, and her heart slid away down to her heels. One of the old-young men spoke from the dimness of the back of the room.

"Couldn't hear a peep back here, boss," he reported.

"O.K., Tim—thanks," said Randy, and the man went out.

Bob said unexpectedly, "Look, why don't we use a 'mike' and let her sing into it? Her voice is not bad—it's just small and parlor-sized. But it's kinda warm and soft. Couldn't we try a 'mike'?"

"Any singer who has to have a microphone to sing in a place this size would be much better off back on her river farm, lighting lamps for the river-pilots," stated Dolores flatly.

"Look," said Randy, and his voice was taut, with the sting of a lash in it. "How'd it be if you just ran along and played by yourself for a while? This must be boring you quite a bit—"

Dolores stood up swiftly, her teeth set hard. She flung Melissa a vitriolic look and her heels clicked as she stalked out of the room.

"Now," said Randy, as though relieved by her departure, "let's see about that 'mike' business."

Melissa came out into the auditorium and sat down at a table while Joe and the boys in the band, with Randy's assistance, set up the microphone.

Alice said in Melissa's ear, "Keep your chin up, kid. You weren't bad at all—and I'm for you strong. If you can just put a crimp in Dolores you are my pal for life. And if you hadn't been pretty good, you wouldn't have got under her skin."

Randy turned and said curtly, "All right, Melissa, let's run through it again."

Melissa went back to the stage. Bob showed her where and how to stand, gave her a friendly, encouraging pat on the shoulder and went back to the orchestra pit. Once more the mellow old strains of "Lonesome Road" crept out over the empty room and Melissa began to sing.

The room was held in a silence that was complete save for the music. And when the last throbbing note had died away there was a little spontaneous burst of applause from the direction of the doorway and Melissa saw that the men who had eaten at a table alone were all in the doorway listening and that they were applauding her.

"Sweet!" said Bob eagerly. "Boss, did you hear that? If there was ever a voice built to order for a mike, she's got it! Maybe we could do a daily broadcast with her over the New Orleans station—she'd be a knock-out!"

Flushed, excited, her heart trembling with eager hope, Melissa looked down at Randy, who was staring up at her as though the effect of the microphone on her voice had amazed him. And she knew that her voice had sounded well; there was a warm, a mellowness, a throbbing, faintly husky note that the microphone brought out and amplified so that it caught the ear and caressed it.

Old South

"LOOK, boss," said Bob, excited and eager now. "You've got something here. You want to buy up the show boat atmosphere. Dolores and Alice and Hugh are all good entertainers—but why don't you 'spot' Melissa here in hoopskirts and a funny little bonnet like the gals wore in 'Gone With the Wind' and sort of build her up? A girl of the Old South, singing old Southern songs and all that stuff? You say she plunks a guitar—well, that's swell. It all adds up. Say, we can build up her number into a sensation."

"Shoot the works, Bob, my boy," said Randy happily. "You're staging the show—and the sky's the limit."

He turned to Melissa and held out his hand to help her down from the stage.

"Was I—was I all right?" she stammered eagerly. The others had said she was. But she had to hear him say it.

"You heard that applause, didn't you?" asked Randy. "Well, that came from probably the toughest audience you'll ever have—the boys who work upstairs in the game rooms. That's a part of the show boat you're never to know anything about, incidentally. I am forbidding you never to climb those stairs—see them? Well, the boat is yours with the exception of those stairs and what lies above them! Remember that, youngster."

Suddenly she was resentful of his insistence upon her youth. "I'm not an infant," she told him haughtily.

Randy grinned at her.

"You're about five years old in worldly wisdom," he told her flatly. "And that's the way I want you to stay. I promised Gran I'd see that you were taken care of—that I wouldn't let you be hurt—and it's a promise I intend to keep. So you stay out of the upper reaches of the show boat, mind you!"

Melissa stared at him, wide-eyed.

"You promised Gran? But of course, she thought I'd got married. I'm in love with you, and that you'd forget all about me the minute you left the Point."

"Only," stated Randy grimly, his eyes holding hers with a curious intensity that made her breath come very fast. "I did not forget you, you know."

"Yes," said Melissa, meeting his eyes, letting him read whatever he cared to read in the depths of her dark eyes lifted to his. "You did remember me. Thank you for remembering me."

A little later, from the porthole above her bunk, she saw him driving away in the handsome black roadster. And Dolores, very smart-looking in sheer black with a frosty white collar and a trig little white feather turban perched nonchalantly above one blue eye, sat beside him.

Home Defense

Seventh Ward
The first aid class for men of the seventh ward which was recently organized, will hold its first session this evening at Temple Emanuel school hall at 7:30 o'clock. All those who have enrolled for the course are urged to be present.

Purpose Explained
In a memorandum to all members of the Kingston Defense Council issued yesterday, Mayor William F. Edelmuth explained the purposes of the volunteer office for civilian defense. Following is his report.

The volunteer office of the local defense council, located at 247 Clinton Avenue, has been established by the mayor, at the suggestion of the state defense council, for the purpose of maintaining a constant and accurate record of all volunteers now engaged in the defense effort or who wish to offer their services for civilian defense. The office is also maintained to enroll volunteers who wish training in courses which are being offered in civilian defense works and to maintain a record of the results of the training of such volunteers.

Monthly reports on the enrollment and training of all volunteers in the civilian defense effort are now required by the state defense council. It is vitally important, therefore, that all volunteers now engaged in civilian protection work who have not registered at the volunteer office should do so at the earliest possible moment. The office is open from 9 to 5 daily for registration. In the event that volunteers in your department are unable to register at the office during those hours, arrangements will be made to open the office one or two nights a week until such registration has been completed. If you have not already furnished the volunteer office with a list of the volunteers employed in your department, you should do so without delay.

Volunteers Needed

All enrollment of volunteers for future defense activities should be conducted through the volunteer office, which will be required to furnish the department heads with lists of volunteers as such lists are requested. It will then be necessary for the various department heads to report back to the volunteer office on the acceptance or rejection of the volunteers whose names have been submitted. In order that the records of the office regarding each volunteer may be accurately kept.

In order that the activities of the various defense units may be better coordinated, all publicity regarding training courses, enrollment of volunteers, etc., will be handled by a publicity committee which has been established at the volunteer office. This publicity committee is composed of representatives of each of the two newspapers and the radio and meets daily to arrange for the proper dissemination of publicity.

The volunteer office is concerned solely with the registration and placement of volunteers in defense units or in training courses for defense units. It has no other function at the present time. The office is directed by an executive committee headed by Dr. Frank B. Seeley and composed of Judge Edward Conway, Mrs. Edward B. Loughran and Dr. Sidney Wolff. Mrs. Charles de la Vergne represents the executive committee as administrative head of the office. The mayor meets with the executive committee weekly to receive reports on the activities of the office. Any suggestions for the improvement of the operation of the office should be taken up directly with the mayor.

Office to Open

An Office of Civilian Defense will be opened in the downtown district, Monday, March 23. This new office for the convenience of downtown residents will be located in the Cuykendall Building, 22 Ferry street, and will be open from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. daily, Monday and Thursday the office will be open in the evening from 7 to 9 o'clock.

Atharhacton Club Studies

Life of Soong Sisters

At a meeting of the Atharhacton Club yesterday Mrs. Charles Arnold reviewed the life of the famous Soong sisters of China. Her information was obtained from the biography, "The Soong Sisters" by Emily Hahn.

All three of the sisters have made important marriages, being the wives of the leaders of the revolutionary movement in China. The eldest sister married Dr. Sun Yet Sen, the second H. H. Kung, revolutionary and educator; and the third is the noted Madame Chiang Kai-Shek. Their brother, T. V. Soong is prominent in China for his financial work.

The father of the family, Charlie Soong, was educated in America and upon returning to his native country became a publisher. He printed many revolutionary pamphlets for Dr. Sun Yet Sen and took an active service in the overthrow of the dynasty and establishment of the republic in 1911. The three girls were also educated in America and became interested in reforming China.

The family was brought up as Christians and have always promoted the following of the religion in the country. They believe that religion will help to save China as well as military prowess.

The club met at the home of Miss Louise W. Van Hovenberg, 195 Wall street, yesterday.

HALF-WAY SITUATIONS IN A RECEIVING LINE OFTEN DISCONCERTING

It is easy enough to know what to say to someone in the receiving line who is well-known to you. It is also a simple matter to repeat the conventional "how do you do?" and walk on when the person is a stranger. But the half-way situations are disconcerting at times, to all except the few whose goodness of tongue never falters. One who has not this facility, asks, "What shall I say to a bride whom I met only once and about whom I know almost nothing, but who is marrying a cousin of mine?"

In this situation, you probably would say, "I'm so glad to welcome you into the family, and to tell you that I think Arthur is a very lucky man." Or instead of this last rather shop-worn phrase, you might say, "I hope you are going to like us half as much as we like you." Or best of all say what you think (that is welcoming) in your own words.

Secretary asks a Question

Dear Mrs. Post: I am a secretary, and as my employer is head of a local war committee, the men will be coming here to our offices for these meetings. When they arrive, should I take their coats and hats and hang them in our closet, or do I let them hang their own coats up? The chairs have to be used for the meeting. I discussed this with a fellow secretary and she said, a secretary's duties did not include being check girl. Answer: Perhaps not ordinarily, but they certainly include all ways in which she can be of assistance to her employer. It might very likely be enough in this case to tell the men where to leave their coats and hats since, if they arrive in a group, she could hardly take all their coats at one time anyway. If one or two of the men arrive late, she would take their things to save time. I think your employer probably will agree with me. In any case, what he thinks is more important than what an associate secretary imagines.

Mrs. Three-in-One

Dear Mrs. Post: When the hostess is also a cook and waitress, how does she announce that dinner is ready? Is it suitable for her to say, "Dinner is served" the way a maid does?

Answer: Not the word "served." Ordinarily, she would say, "Dinner is ready" or if it were of a party than an everyday meal she probably would ask, "Will you come in to dinner?"

So many requests have been made for copies of my article on details concerned with training camps (behavior of visitors and presents for the men), that I have had it printed as a leaflet and will be very glad to send it to anyone who sends me a self-addressed, three-cent stamped envelope to Emily Post, in care of Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 75, Station O, New York, N. Y. Leaflets cannot be mailed unless self-addressed envelope bears correct amount of postage.

TO QUICKEN FLOW OF LIVER BILE

Do This Every Morning for 30 Days

To be normal your liver should discharge about a full quart of digestion-aiding bile juices every day. A scanty flow—may mean sick headaches, so-called biliousness, poor digestion, that half-sick, half-awake feeling.

Snap out of it! Probably all you need is a gentle enema. Get a bottle of Kruschen Salts tonight. Start right in tomorrow morning and take 1 to 2 spoonful in a glass of water (hot or cold) half an hour before breakfast and keep this up for 30 days. Do this and you too should get up feeling fit and ready for a real day's work. Try Kruschen—a famous English formula—Satisfaction guaranteed or money back.

Recreations Overwhelm Long Island Pros by 63 to 44 Score

Shaback, Fliegel Pace Kingston to Crushing Victory

Harlem Globe Trotters to Meet Local Cagers Next Wednesday Night at the Auditorium

The Kingston Recreations continued their winning ways at the municipal auditorium last night with an overwhelming 63 to 44 victory over the Long Island Pros for their sixth straight victory. The total represented Kingston's highest point collection this year.

Leading the assault on the visitors from Long Island for the locals was Nick Shaback, hero of last week's contest, Shaback collected 19 points. He was tossing them in from all corners during the final session.

Malfitano Gets 19

For the Long Islanders, Carl Malfitano, formerly of the Recreation club during the New York State League tenure here, paced the attack with a like total of 19 points. Fans who watched the game wondered just why the former St. Francis star couldn't play like that when he was in a Kingston uniform. Malfitano got off plenty of hair-raising shots.

Jim Buckley and Jerry Rizzo, two other former Kingston players found out just why the new Recreations haven't been beaten yet. Rizzo threw in 10 points and displayed more life than he ever did in a Kingston uniform. Buckley threw in six markers.

But despite the great work of Malfitano and the help given by the former Fordham Ram ace, the Kingston Recreations walked off with an easy victory. Kingston was hot last night and could have gone on indefinitely had the team really kept up the pressure.

The Recreations started off with a 19 to 14 lead in the first period after a slow start. At the end of the second session the scoreboard told the story. Kingston was out in front by 39 to 29. The Recs uncorked a spectacular 24-point spree in the final canto to "ice" the ball game without a doubt.

O'Neill Stands Out

Another big factor in the victory for Kingston last night was the performance of Joe O'Neill, who teamed up with Fliegel at the forward slot. O'Neill, who is considered about the best fighter Kingston has on the squad, played another sparkling game and tossed in 11 helpful points.

While Nick Shaback took scoring honors again for Manager

"Turk" Karam's basket, Bernie Fliegel, the veteran American League star of many seasons, also enjoyed the best night of the season as he uncorked a tally of 16 points. Throughout the contest, the old warhorse leveled off and rifled in some of his classic shots.

The fans were "on" Sammy Kaplan, another veteran during the first part of the battle. Kaplan, however, managed to save himself with a few good shots during the remainder of the game.

Next Wednesday night the famous Harlem Globe Trotters, the No. 1 negro basketball team of the country, will be the opponents for the Recreations. Harlem reached the semi-finals in the recent pro tournament in Chicago.

Syracuse Victors In Golden Gloves; Wins Team Trophy

New York, March 19 (AP)—Golden Gloves boxers from Syracuse, N. Y., went home today with the team trophy of the annual tournament of championships, although the award was won by the New York city squad.

The two teams finished in a deadlock at the end of last night's finals in Madison Square Garden, each with 15 points. But the New Yorkers won the team trophy by taking three individual titles, one more than Syracuse.

After the bouts were over, however, the New York boxers, in a display of generosity as tournament hosts, voted to relinquish the award to Syracuse.

Other team scores: Washington, D. C., 7; Huntington, W. Va., 6; Buffalo, N. Y., Philadelphia and Trenton, 5 each; Jacksonville, Fla., 4; Union City, N. J., 2; Charlotte, N. C., Miami and Southeastern A.A.U. (Atlanta) 1 each.

TRAINING CAMP BRIEFS

(By The Associated Press)

Clearwater, Fla.—There is always something to plague a baseball manager, but Mel Ott of the New York Giants is getting his double doses. As if Johnny Mize's arm trouble weren't enough, Bill Werber went on the hospital list yesterday when the knee which had bothered him in Cincinnati last year became swollen overnight.

Sarasota, Fla.—Manager Joe Cronin has been singing the praises of home-run slugger Bill Conroy so loudly that Frankie Fyfiak, still bothered by a sore foot, is beginning to worry about his first-string catching job with the Boston Red Sox. Conroy homered against the New York Giants Monday, Louisville Tuesday and beat the St. Louis Cardinals yesterday with a 12th inning four-bagger.

Tampa, Fla.—About all young Bert Haas must do to clinch the third base job with the Cincinnati Reds is get the ball across the diamond without a bounce. Every day so far the ball has bounced closer and closer to first base, and Manager Bill McKeechie believes that by opening day Bert will make it in the air.

Lakeland, Fla.—Manager Leo Durocher of the Brooklyn Dodgers played the full nine innings against the Detroit Tigers yesterday, giving Pee Wee Reese a rest. The Dodger skipper was in the middle of two Brooklyn double plays. He also struck out to start a Tiger twin killing.

St. Petersburg, Fla.—Those of the experts who have been saying Lou Warneke and his aging right arm can't go on winning may have to eat their words. Making his first start of the season, the dean of the St. Louis Cardinals pitched in a scoreless three-inning chore against the Boston Red Sox, yielding only two singles and fanning three.

St. Petersburg, Fla.—Manager Joe McCarthy of the New York Yankees expressed satisfaction with the form Lefty Gomez showed in his four inning of mound duty against the Detroit Tigers. "Lefty worked smoothly without letting himself out and looked all right," declared McCarthy.

Chance in Movies

New York, March 19 (AP)—Heavyweight Abe Simon, the bulky brawler who gets his second shot at the crown worn by Joe Louis here March 27, now has an added inducement to whip the champ. Jimmy Johnston, Simon's manager, disclosed today that a picture company had offered Abe $50,000 to play the lead in a movie based on a comic strip hero if he beats Louis.

Bowling Roundup

Will Enter Tourney

A team known as the Jacks will enter the annual state bowling tournament at Binghamton it was learned this week. This team has participated in a number of local leagues. The roster includes George Fleming, Al Goldman, Jack Martin, sponsor of the team; Bill Mergendahl and Lew Hymes. Homer Emerick is the sixth knegler on the squad.

Jack Martin Hits 629

In the Silver League at Emerick's Recreation alleys, the scene of the sixth annual city bowling tournament which gets under way Saturday night at 7 o'clock, Jack Martin, anchor for the Jacks, paced the team with a sensational 629 triple. Martin rolled games of 189, 203 and then really hit the jack-pot with his coveted 237 single.

Martin missed having the highest single hit in the league last night until J. Mergott of the B.W.S. kneglers wound up with a 238, just one pin higher, in his final game. Mergott had a 531 triple. F. Morris had 576 for the winners who defeated the Telcos twice. B.W.S. rolled a 866 team game.

George Robinson's top-notch knegling helped the Joneses to defeat the Empires in two games. Robbie crashed out a 210 single and finished with a 516 triple. Harold Broskie had 514 for the winners.

Jim Norton's 543 triple wasn't enough for the Moose bowlers to defeat the Shultis kneglers as they won two games. Norton had scores of 167, 186 and 190. Ray DuBois cracked out a 526 three game series for the winners. Larry Petersen, Sr., had a high single in the match of 195.

Colonial Women's League

In the Colonial Women's League at the Central Recreation alleys last night Bea Coddington, anchor for Cys, crashed out the highest triple as she rolled games of 182, 166 and 181 for her 529 series. Bea paced the club to two victories over the Rainmonds.

Evelyn Provenzano, leadoff for the Joneses, came in with the second highest triple with her 513. Evelyn had games of 159, 183 and 171. Evelyn Jones had the high single in the match with 191.

The only other 500 triple was blasted out by Rita Markle, anchor bowler for Standards. She tallied scores of 193, the high single in the match; 170 and 143 for a 506. Standards won two from Chics.

The highest single in the league was rolled by M. Martalto who caged a sizzling 225 game in her second. She failed to hit the 500 triple mark, however, by hitting 108 and 127 in the other frames.

Harmony in Cleveland Camp Lift's Boudreau's Worries

Manager Feels New Spirit May Have Come Too Late This Year; Team Is Short of Catchers

By GAYLE TALBOT

Clearwater, Fla., March 19 (AP)—After having worried himself sleepless most of the winter, Lou Boudreau, the new "boy" manager of the Cleveland Indians, has discovered to his obvious astonishment and delight that he didn't have a thing to worry about.

You explain it. The same sullen, hard-bitten crowd that made life miserable for Oscar Vitt two seasons ago and which failed to respond to Roger Peckinpaugh last year suddenly has decided to play baseball for a smiling 24-year-old ex-collegian. There is harmony in the Cleveland camp. Roy Weatherly is in probably the best shape of his career and is full of vim. The tough part is that it has come too late.

"It's the greatest thrill I've ever had," says Boudreau, who will be the youngest regular in his team's line-up. "I didn't know how some of the fellows would like taking orders from me. I'll admit I worried plenty. Anyone would have in my position. And then we got here and started training, and every worry disappeared. They are hustling so hard for me that I scarcely know how to express my appreciation. I still don't quite understand it, but it's great."

It is unfortunate the same spirit didn't prevail in either of the last two years, when the Indians appeared to have everything except the will to win. Bobby Feller, greatest of present day pitchers, is in the service; Hal Trosky, slugging first baseman, is on the temporary retired list; "Gee" Walker, star right-fielder, is running his drug store at Orlando Fla. and apparently is deadly serious about refusing to accept a salary cut. Instead of a pennant contender, Cleveland is just another ball club.

After Fourth Place

"I'm setting my sights for fourth place," Boudreau said. "If we finish that high I'll be satisfied. I can't see much hope of breaking into the first three against the Yankees, the Red Sox and the White Sox. They've got the places sewed up. I'm afraid. The White Sox can finish up there on their pitching staff alone. Once you get a staff like that going it will carry you along by itself."

With Feller gone, the Indians' staff consists, broadly speaking, of a couple of left-handers named Al Al Smith and Al Milnar—and a hope for the best. That hardly seems sufficient.

Stucklers for accuracy might claim that the club is more short on catchers than anything else since Rollie Hemsley was sold to Cincinnati but they would be splitting hairs. Gene Desautels, who hit .201 in 66 games last year, still remains, and there is a rookie from Minneapolis named Otto Denning.

Stellar Infield

The team has one of the better infields, with Boudreau, himself, at short, Ken Keltner on third, Ray Mack at second and a robust 190-pound newcomer named Les Fleming, up from Nashville, taking Trosky's job at first. Fleming looks like the works at bat. He hit .414 for Nashville last year and drove in 103 runs. Disquieting point is that the Indians also have a couple of rookie outfielders from Nashville named Oris Hockett and Charles Workman who clouted .359 and .334, respectively. That is an awful lot of hitting on one club.

Jeff Heath, whose great feat of hitting .340 and driving across 123 runs generally was unappreciated, is back in left field, and Weatherly looks set for a good year in center. The third job, if Walker doesn't report, probably belongs to Henry Edwards, a six-foot, 190-pound rookie who blasted the ball at a .364 rate last season for Cedar Rapids.

'Y' Varsity Cagers Play Chandlers Next Tuesday At 'Old-Timers' Dinner

Championship Team of '28 May Have Entire List of Regular Stars on Y Court

In conjunction with the second annual 'old-timers' dinner at the Y. M. C. A. Tuesday night at 6:30 o'clock, an exhibition basketball game will be played featuring the 1927-28 Chandlers and the present 'Y' varsity team. The game will be played after the banquet program, about 9:15 o'clock.

Present members of the Y. M. C. A. cage team who will oppose the Chandlers are Jack Stevenson, Knute Beichert, Tommy O'Hara, Jess Shultis, "Chipe" Rhymmer, Milt Dubin, "Bub" Van Buren, Hank Krum, another member of the squad, will perform with the Y Varsity. Former members of the varsity squad unable to play are Andy Dykes, Eddie Bock and Al Bruce.

Through the cooperation of Chet Fox, local referee and also outstanding basketball player, The Freeman has herewith published the history of the Chandler team, sponsored by Roy Longendyke as told by Mr. Fox:

"The team organized as an employed boys team in the year 1926. It proved to have a successful season during that campaign. In 1927 Frank "Pop" Hinds coached the team and during his time as a physical director at the 'Y' the cagers started to rise to great heights.

"They made a reputation for themselves which was known throughout the Hudson Valley and far north as the cities of Troy Cohoes, Albany, Schenectady and Amsterdam. The team also played games in the metropolitan district. In a two-day trip through Massachusetts, the Y. M. C. A. cagers defeated Springfield, West Field and West Springfield.

In 1928 the club won the Y. M. C. A. Northeastern Basketball championship in Cohoes, and by playing three games in one day, Kingston defeated Troy in an overtime period by one point and then traveled to Buffalo to participate in two tournaments.

Players of the Chandlers received their greatest thrill when they were invited to participate in the National Y. M. C. A. tournament at Cincinnati, O., on a trip which took them a week and a half. The Chandlers also took part in other tournaments, playing in Schenectady, Albany and Jamaica.

In 1928 the club started off with a winning streak of 16 games, only to have it snapped by the 'Y's' Men's Club by one point, 31 to 30. They finished the season with a record of 45 victories and only losing two.

Their greatest rivals while in their prime was the then famous Red Shield team, representing the Salvation Army. The Chandlers and Red Shield played in 11 games and the 'Y' team won nine.

Local fans will recall the many battles between these two clubs. The Chandler team was composed of Ken "Red" Kennedy, Hank Krom, Chet Fox, Norma Niles, Jimmy Merritt, Joe Blass, Joe Dulin, Joe Hoffman and Earl McLean.

Boston Pilot Will Keep Eye on Able Veterans Again; Future Aces Pack Spring Camp

(Special to Freeman) Sarasota, Fla., March 26—Manager Joe Cronin himself says that the accent will be on youth with his Boston Red Sox this coming season—but a survey of the club in spring training here indicates that the heavy burden of keeping the club up in the race may rest on such "old-timers" as Cronin and Jimmy Foxx.

The club has several young and extremely promising rookies on hand and a few of them will stick, but the consensus is that the power in the bats as wielded by Cronin—one of the games great clutch hitters—and old "Double X" Jimmy, will have the edge when it comes time for Cronin to list the regular performers April 14.

Boston has an abundance of first basemen and shortstops. At the initial sack, Foxx, Tony Lupien and Lou Finney have been working out, with the first two holding the big edge.

At short the traffic is heavy, with Cronin, Skeeter Newsom, Johnny Pesky and Eddie Pellagrini the leading candidates. Cronin may wind up playing third base, for he has a hunch that Jim Tabor, regular third sacker last season, can play the outfield just as well and has the power at the plate.

The battle between Pesky and Pellagrini for a regular infield job—the reliable Bobby Doerr will take care of second base—has the Red Sox camp talking. Cronin, after two weeks at spring camp, rated Pesky an edge largely on the fact that in two straight seasons he has hit the ball at a .325 average and that in his turns in batting practice he has looked as though he is ready to hit major league pitching in the same style.

Among the pitchers, Yank Terry and Oscar Judd likely will be the rookies to stick. Terry won 26 games against only eight defeats with San Diego last season, while Judd, one of the two left handers on the Red Sox staff, won 13 games and lost five at Louisville.

It's a good looking rookie crop that Boston has come up with this spring—but Cronin sums up their chances with: "The kids who stick with us this summer will have to hit—because I have a hunch some of us old-timers will be pretty good with that stick ourselves."

Chile's present crop is expected to fill over 60,000 boxes.

Might Change Designation

Washington, March 19 (AP)—Treasury officials said today they were considering changing the name of defense bonds and stamps to war savings bonds and stamps. July 1 has been suggested as a convenient date for the change over. A factor is how long it would take to use up the old bonds and stamps.

Governor Orders Guards to Posts As Signals Sound

Albany, N. Y., March 19 (AP)—Governor Lehman today ordered New York guard units, in areas affected, to mobilize at their respective armories immediately upon the sounding of air raid or blackout signals.

In a general order to the guard, the governor also directed the commanding general to have unit commanders prepare practicable plans for day or night mobilization.

Brassards will be issued bearing the letters "N.Y.G." and, the governor said, should be carried at all times. When affixed on the left arm above the elbow, they will assure free movement of guard members to their respective armories.

Pending issuance of the brassards, guardsmen will use identification cards. Mobilization under the order, Lehman said, will be counted as a drill without pay or allowance unless active duty is subsequently ordered.

Personnel strength will be reported by telegram to Adjutant General Ames T. Brown, Albany, when mobilization is completed or units are dismissed.

Program Proposed To Help Jobless

Four-Point Plan Urged by Legislative Group

Albany, N. Y., March 19 (AP)—A four-point program for liberalizing unemployment insurance benefits, to help offset job dislocations caused by the war, was proposed today by the legislature's committee on industrial and labor conditions.

Highlights of a measure introduced by the committee, of which Republican Assembly Majority Leader Irving M. Ives is chairman, include:

Extension of benefits to partly unemployed who now cannot participate in the insurance program.

Reduction of the waiting period from three to two weeks.

Expansion of the maximum benefit rate from $15 to $18 weekly.

Expansion of the benefit period from 13 to 16 weeks.

Ives said recommendations of a "similar nature" have been made by Governor Lehman, the advisory council on unemployment insurance, and State Industrial Commissioner Frieda S. Miller.

The governor, for instance, urged lengthening the benefit period to 20 weeks.

The legislative committee expressed belief, however, that expansion of benefits beyond its proposals "might jeopardize" the stability of an insurance reserve now totaling approximately $340,000,000.

Michael School Holds Special Emergency Drills

Freeman Photos

The Myron J. Michael School gave an air raid demonstration recently. The alarm bell and other signals from the principal's office inform the students when and where to go to pre-arranged shelters in the interior corridors and rooms which are safe from flying glass.

The air raid is divided into three phases. First, returning to home rooms and preparation for the drill in which picked leaders—Boy and Girl Scouts, first aid group, the demolition and incendiary squads, teachers selected for key positions, are all in readiness.

Second, the air raid drill in which students march to the designated place for each group. To impress the importance of this part of the drill, silence is required and specific work is done with each group to show what would be done if it should happen here.

Imaginary accidents happen and the various groups go into action to clean up the destroyed property or to help the injured, or to aid the mentally upset students.

Special teachers who are working in the school at the time the Air Raid Drill is going on, report to the Medical Office to assist the doctor and nurses who are doing their regular work in the building.

In the third phase, the alarm bell signals that the tension of the drill is over. The students relax, return to their rooms, and general work is resumed.

The time of an Air Raid Drill depends upon the problem worked out. The above photos show what The Freeman photographer saw on his journey through the school during the recent air raid drill.

There also can be seen in this photo the boys and girls standing against the walls in the interior corridors.

The photo at right shows the more serious cases which are collected and brought to the gym before being taken to the medical room.

There are six groups at work in the gym. The bottom photo shows the girls at work in the lunch room taking care of head, arms, hand, leg and feet wounds.

Smith Testifies Constituents Urge Measures Be Passed

Washington, March 19 (AP)—Rep. Smith (D., Va.), urging support of his bill to limit profits and abolish overtime pay on war contracts, testified today that members of Congress were feeling "the lash of the whip" from constituents clamoring for such legislation.

While administration leaders sought to have Sunday double time pay suspended for the duration through mutual consent of management and labor in war industries, Smith went much farther, appearing before the House naval committee in behalf of his measure which would:

Limit profits on war contracts to a maximum of 6 per cent of cost.

Suspend federal maximum hour legislation on work done under navy contracts for the duration of the war.

Do away also with overtime and doubletime pay, and with the closed shop on these contracts.

"The country wants to know where it stands, whether Congress is running the war effort, or labor."

"If we have an insurrectional spirit in labor ranks," he declared, "for God's sake, let's know it now, let's meet it, let's get it behind us before it is too late."

Shouting out his criticism of the closed shop, Smith told the committee:

"Some one will remind us of the constitution and say that to abrogate the closed shop agreements is unconstitutional. But I say that there is inherent in government the right and the power to do everything and anything necessary for its preservation in time of war."

The administration plan, not yet fully developed, presumably would call for substitution of time and a half pay for the Sunday double time rate now prevailing.

Predicts British Raids

Washington, March 19 (AP)—Germany may expect to suffer "more and more devastating attacks" on its continental strongholds by British bombers and commando troops as the weather gets better, Lord Halifax believes.

The British ambassador, in a broadcast address last night, asserted that such raids already had caused the Germans to keep increasing numbers of their troops immobilized in western Europe.

Automobiles cannot be sold in Venezuela at prices higher than those in effect on December 1, 1941.

G. O. P. Favors Further Help to Those on Relief

Albany, N. Y., March 19 (AP)—The legislature's Republican majority acted today to deny further financial aid to relief recipients refusing offers of "reasonable work."

Legislation designed to carry out what G. O. P. legislators termed a party "no work-no pay" policy, was submitted by Assemblyman Abbot Low Moffat, ways and means committee chairman.

The measure, expected to be passed within the next 10 days, also would stop relief funds to persons rejecting vocational school training for semi-skilled defense work.

This development coincided with a sudden bill jam that brought the assembly back for an extra day's work on more than 80 measures scheduled for a final vote.

Probability of action on the controversial problem of revising congressional and legislative districts increased with announcement of a meeting of the joint legislative committee on reapportionment, March 24, at which final form of the legislation will be determined.

Republican Assemblyman Harry A. Roux, chairman, said a final report of the committee also will be discussed. Drafting of redistricting bills was speeded after a recent public hearing that brought demands the legislature "forget politics and make a fair reapportionment this year."

Simultaneously, the Republican leadership moved to conciliate opponents to Governor Lehman's proposal for local paid civilian protection directors.

To overcome objections of several municipal officials that their localities were unable to afford paying defense directors, the party submitted a bill continuing permission for cities to levy a one percent tax on the gross income of utilities.

While the revenue from the emergency tax heretofore was earmarked only for home relief, the new bill would permit localities to use the funds for any purpose, including paying salaries of civilian protection directors.

"There have probably never been so many people employed in New York state as now," a Republican leader explained. "As a result the revenue from the utility tax easily could be turned to a more needed source than relief."

In submitting proposed legislation to deny relief to those refusing jobs, the Republican bill also included what its sponsors labeled "safeguards" to prevent "any undue hardship on a relief recipient or his family."

"This is the system in England," a party spokesman asserted. "Where relief is rigidly denied if there is not even a bonafide effort to secure employment."

Both bills went to the powerful Republican-controlled Assembly rules committee, with more than 225 other measures which were turned over by all other assembly committees before last midnight.

Traditionally, the rules committee takes control of all measures unacted upon by the other committees within a week or two of final adjournment. But majority leaders conceded that this year the session could not be ended before mid-April.

Most important measures to be acted upon by the legislature before adjournment include a Republican proposal to eliminate a $2-100,000 tax on real estate, now
